GARNER READY
TO MAKE PLEA
FOR TAX BILL

New Obstacles Loom for Oil and Coal Import Taxes
in House

Washington—(AP)—More trouble
for the oil and coal import taxes was promised today in the house at the resumption of consideration of the new revenue bill.

Opponents of the two served notice they would demand another vote on these items before the bill is passed.

There was an indication that the ways and means subcommittee was leaning toward the treasury-recommended program of taxing specially selected manufactures in its search for revenue sources to replace the amount lost by defeat of the sales tax.

At the same time, Speaker Garner indicated he probably would take the floor tomorrow to urge the house to pass a bill that would balance the budget.

The American Farm Bureau Federation proposed in a letter to house members today that the revenue stricken from the tax bill by rejection of the sales levy be made up by assessments upon selected luxuries
and specified commodities, and excise taxes upon certain imports.

It submitted a list of proposed sources of revenue which it estimated would bring in $356,000,000.

These included the estate, income and surtax amendments which already have been adopted.

On this list also were a number of taxes on imports, several of which were rejected Saturday after independent leaders had rallied behind Republican and Democratic leaders to stop the onrush of such amendments.

The letter went to the house while a ways and means subcommittee was working on a list of taxes which it hopes will replace the amount the country cut out of the bill by rejecting the sales tax. Consideration of the tax bill itself was deferred for more than an hour by the house
while it worked on another measure.

List of proposals
The list of taxes proposed by the federation included:

Graduated gift taxes with an exemption of $50,000.

Boosting the corporation income tax 3 per cent above that carried in the present bill.

Import taxes on copra, oils and fats on bearing seeds, cassava, tapioca, flour, sugar, other tropical starches, jute, coffee, tea and spice.

Special taxes on furs and fur
goods; on the rental of safety deposit boxes and vaults; on stock and bond
transfers; radios and phonographs;
radio advertising; cosmetics and perfumes; works of art and jewelry; on speculative trading on the stock,
grain and cotton exchanges; theater
admissions in excess of 25 cents.

Stamp taxes on all agreements in writing, contracts, mortgages, etc., and on receipts or evidence of the payment of money.

Doubling the present second class
postal rates.

In addition, the federation suggested a revision of the present system of deductions, both for corporation and individual incomes, and proposed that the annual cost of the federal government be cut at least $150,000,000.

The letter suggested also that the payment of the annual statutory requirements on the federal debt be suspended for two years and then be resumed at the rate of a billion dollars annually.

"Federal income taxes on bank checks, automobiles and gasoline are opposed," it concluded. "Gasoline taxes have been developed by and should be reserved for the states.
Automobiles are not a luxury, but are a necessity on farms. Bank checks are mostly issued by citizens who have no ability to pay increasing taxes."

Garner May Speak
Speaker Garner renewed his assertions that the budget must be balanced at his morning conference
with newspaper men and indicated

Six Persons Die In New Alabama Tornado

Seriously Ill

Washington—(AP)—Senator Harris
of Georgia, is in a serious condition
at his home here with intestinal trouble. The Georgia Democrat developed the intestinal trouble shortly after returning home from a bladder operation. How serious his condition is will be determined within the next two days, his physicians said.

SNOW BLANKETS
NEW ENGLAND

Eastern Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania Also Visited by Storms

By the Associated Press Howling, northeast winds swept over New England today, full gales lashed the Atlantic coast, snow blanketed most of the east, and New York was drenched with rain.

A blizzard struck northern New Hampshire, deepened wet, heavy snow to 7 inches in the forenoon and
traffic ceased in many parts of Massachusetts as drifts piled up to four feet or more.

Heavy flakes snapped power lines
in Pennsylvania and delayed for more than two and a half hours the execution of a wife-murderer in Bellefonte.

Parts of eastern Ohio suffered the heaviest snow in recent years. New York state was covered from the Adirondacks to the Pennsylvania line. Albany had more than six inches at 8 a. m. State police reported that travel was precarious on many highways.

Trolley service throughout the stormy sections was hampered and in many places local railroad service was behind schedule.

Chilly wind and mist held sway
over the national capital and marred
the annual Easter egg-rolling on the White House lawn.

SNOW ISOLATES TOWNS
Bellaire, Ohio—(AP)—Parts of eastern Ohio today were suffering from the heaviest snow in recent years. Several towns were isolated with telephone wires and power lines were broken.

GANGSTER SOUGHT
AFTER JAIL BREAK

Detroit Purple Gang Member Shoots His Way Out of Indiana Jail

South Bend, Ind.—(AP)—Authorities pushing a wide hunt for Basil
Banghart, ex-convict and Detroit Purple Gang gunman who shot his way out of the county jail, expressed belief today he had reached his old-time haunts in Detroit or Toledo.

Jailer Stanley Kiosinski permitted
Banghart to go to a second floor washroom yesterday and then left to call the jail roll. Banghart sneaked downstairs to the jail office, blinded a trusty who crossed his path with pepper, and took possession of the arsenal.

He wounded Kiosinski with a bullet from a submachine gun as the returning jailer sought to seize him, intimidated other trusties and guards
with the gun and gained freedom.

Tracing his movements thereafter,
the officials said he dropped the gun near the jail and took a taxi
cab to Mishawaka, Ind., four miles distant, he was next believed seen in Elkhart, Ind., and the officials theorized he stole a car there and headed for either Detroit or Toledo.
Routes from Elkhart lead to both those cities.

Banghart, an associate of Harry Fleischer, who has been sought in the Lindbergh kidnapping, was to be tried tomorrow for two robberies
here. It was his third spectacular escape from imprisonment. In 1927
he ran a hall of bullets to escape
from the federal prison at Atlanta and later he made good an escape
from a Philadelphia courtroom while he was being tried. Each time he was recaptured.

SCORES HURT IN STORM; HEAVY LOSS IN AREA

Storms Also Sweep Into Adjoining States in Southern Region

Montgomery, Ala.—(AP)—Another
tornado dipped into Alabama yesterday and added six deaths to the 362 caused by freak spring storms in the south a week ago today.

The Easter Sunday twister struck hard into central Alabama and then swept into Georgia with diminished force leaving wreckage and scores of injured. High winds whipped through sections of Louisiana and Tennessee with damaging effect.

By coincidence, the second tornado
followed the path of its predecessors closely in Alabama. The fatalities were near the communities where others died last week. Austin Laurence, Walker Lawrence, Perry Hicks
and Jane Green were killed at Law-ley while G. M. Tubbs and a Mr.
Pate died at Pleasant Grove.

Stones the size of baseballs were reported at Cordova, Ala. They stripped foliage from trees, battered in automobile tops and even killed livestock. There was a snow storm
at Sparta, Tenn.

Buchanan and Corinth were the hardest hit of the Georgia towns.
About 100 score were injured and flung to the wreckage by the twisting wind. Wreckage was scattered over the area.

Storm damage and injuries were reported at Chattanooga, Tenn., and Zwolski, La.

Heavy loss of livestock was reported along with the property damage, dead and injured.

DEATH IN TEXAS
Dallas—(AP)—One death and more than a score injured resulted from two tornadoes which struck in east Texas yesterday. At Selman in the East Texas oil field, 27 derricks were levelled and for a time, seven oil wells ran wild, spraying oil over the country.

Norfolk Intermediary Off
For Conference With Lindy

Newspaper Reports He Carries Positive Means of Identifying Baby

Norfolk, Va.—(AP)—John H. Curtis, Norfolk boat manufacturer today
said the Very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock serving as an intermediary for the return of the kidnapped Lindbergh baby, left Norfolk today for Hopewell, N. J., to hold a personal conference with Col. Charles A.
Lindbergh.

Curtis said he and Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, also serving as intermediaries, had found it necessary to change their plans and remain in Norfolk. He would not say whether Dean Dobson-Peacock left by plane,
although he had previously revealed
the minister went to the Hampton Roads Naval Air station.

Asked if he believed the trip today would complete the negotiations for
the child's return, he said:
"I never believe anything until it is completed."

He added, however, that today's conference with Colonel Lindbergh would have an important bearing on the plans of Norfolk citizens.

The Ledger-Dispatch said it was reliably reported Dean Dobson-Peacock carried with him positive means of identifying the Lindbergh baby, as well as a definite plan for consummation of the negotiations for the return of the child, including a statement of the amount of ransom demanded by the kidnapers.

LINDBERGH'S STAND
Hopewell, N. J.—(AP)—The Lind-berghs, near the end of their fourth week of separation from their stolen
baby, repeated that they placed no
"special significance" in the negotiations the three Norfolk, Virginians have undertaken.

A statement late last night by Capt. J. J. Lamb of the New Jersey state police said:

"Col. Lindbergh has no knowledge of developments at Norfolk. As previously stated he does not believe the information obtained at Norfolk is of specific significance in the case."

So far as could be learned, Col.
Lindbergh had no appointment today with any of the three men from Norfolk—John H. Curtis, Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage and the Rev.
H. Dobson Peacock. Some members of the state police still stationed at the Lindbergh estate said they understood the Norfolk men had been in communication with men presumed to be rum runners in Virginia coastal waters. The officers repeated their previous assertion that they had no knowledge that negotiations for the return of the baby,
stolen from his nursery March 1,
were in progress. The routine police announcements continue to report
no definite progress.

The Lindberghs spent Easter quietly. Mrs. Lindbergh's mother, Mrs. Dwight Morrow, was at the estate, as were Col. Henry Breckenridge and Mrs. Breckenridge close friends of the Lindberghs.

SUPREME COURT TAKES RECESS OF TWO WEEKS
Washington—(AP)—A few tax cases
and one aimed at an Oregon fishing
law were disposed of briefly today
by the supreme court before it turned to a two week recess.

It sustained the fishing law, and ruled that Arthur L. Whitmer of Chicago, was not entitled to subtract from his gross income in 1921
for bad debts and losses incurred
when he traded his old automobile for a new one.

Turning to the group of petitions
seeking to bring new cases before it,
the court granted several which will be added to its docket, argued
and disposed of at some future date.
Some others were refused and in these the decision of the next highest court stands.

42 RECOVERING FROM EFFECTS OF POISON
Milwaukee—(AP)—Forty-two persons were recovering today from the effects of poisoning, believed by authorities to have been caused by eating chocolate eclairs and coffee cake.
An analysis of the custard in the pastry was to be made to determine the chemical that caused the illness.

The victims were stricken Saturday night. All lived on the north side of the city and officials said it was likely the food originated in one shop. Twenty-three of those stricken were taken to hospitals, but released yesterday.

EXECUTION DELAYED
BY LACK OF POWER
Harrisburg, Pa.—(AP)—Quincy
Walland of Philadelphia, whose execution for wife murder was delayed
because of lack of power early today, was electrocuted at 5:42 a. m. in the governor's office arranged with the communication with the penitentiary at Rockview near Bellefonte was crippled because of a heavy snow storm.

Investigate Death of CO-ED IN ARKANSAS
Eldorado, Ark.—(AP)—The death of a 20-year-old college co-ed, characterized as suicide by the coroner, will be investigated Wednesday by a special grand jury called to consider the confession of a tramp that he assaulted and killed her.

A charge of murder has been made against the tramp, Ervin Edgerton, 28, who authorities say is demented.
The body of Jackie Ruth Youngblood, senior at Magnolia A and M college, was found Friday night.

Edgerton said he assaulted her
and threw her in the path of a passenger train. Coroner T. E. Barton said physicians reported there was no evidence of an assault.

EXTORTION NOTE SENT TO NEBRASKA BANKER
Snyder, Neb.—(AP)—Details of an attempt to extort $25,000 from A. J.
Jorgenson, wealthy president of the American National bank, were made public today by officials 72 hours after he had received a threatening letter through the mails.

The note told Jorgenson to take $25,000 in currency to a secluded spot six miles west of Snyder and leave it under a covert. It hinted his life was in danger if he failed to meet the demands/secretly.

Believing it was an attempt to draw officers out of town, for a bank robbery, Jorgenson had special police stationed at the bank Saturday
while other officers searched themselves near the spot where Jorgenson placed a dummy package. No one attempted to pick up the package.

PIONEER DIES AT 92
Elkhorn—(AP)—An area a city block square all her life was home to Mrs. Chris Pratt, 92. She died last night in her Spring Prairie home,
a few yards from her birthplace.
She was one of the first white girls born in Walworth-co.

France Frees German War
Prisoner After 12 Years

Berlin—(AP)—Paul Schwartz,
believed to be the last German held as a prisoner of war, is coming home from France's "Devil's Island." Cayenne, after 12 years imprisonment. He is one of the few ever to come back from the island.

His release is the climax of several months negotiations between his homeland and France.
Born in Corsica of German parents, Schwartz was taken to Alsace Lorraine when he was a baby and there acquired a German citizenship.

At the outbreak of the war he joined the German troops and fought through the campaigns
of the western front.

Meanwhile his father died and his mother, forced from her ramshackle home in the war area, moved to Kiel. Attempting to reach his mother
after the war, Schwartz was several weeks reaching the north German town.

When he arrived there in February, 1919, he found it occupied by the French troops.
In the absence of his traveling pass, he was arrested by the French and because of his Corsican birth was convicted of high treason in taking up arms against France. He was sentenced to life on the tropical
"Isle of the Damned."

Forgotten for 12 years, Schwartz's case was brought to the notice of the foreign office
here and negotiations were started immediately for his release.

JOB INSURANCE
PLAN MAPPED
FOR WISCONSIN

Advisory Council of Industrial Commission to Act on Proposal

Madison—(AP)—A standard plan for voluntary unemployment insurance systems in Wisconsin factories is being prepared for the state industrial commission by Prof. Paul Rauschenbush of the University of Wisconsin, and is to be submitted
this week to the commission's advisory council for approval.

Rauschenbush has been transferred from the university economics department to work with the commission in putting into effect the new unemployment insurance law.
This requires that Wisconsin employers must have in operation by July, 1933, satisfactory voluntary insurance systems covering 175,000 employees. Otherwise a compulsory insurance system will go into effect.

The plan on which Rauschenbush is working is one that is deemed applicable to industry in general.
If the advisory council which is assisting the commission approves it
the plan will be put in printed form
and distributed to all employers.

If it has any aspects which an employer considers not feasible to peculiar conditions in his own industry he will be invited to submit suggestions for changes and these will be allowed if the commission finds them satisfactory.

The idea here, the commission said,
is to meet special problems encountered in various plants and to iron them out through consultation.

Rauschenbush is the only consultant the commission is using so far.
His salary at the university ceased
during the time he is employed by the commission. He is being paid a per diem allowance which is less than his university salary, the commission said.

NEW RULING MADE
ON TON MILE TAX
Farmers and Farm Products Completely Free from Effects of Tax

Madison—(AP)—The latest ruling of the Public Service commission that the ton mile tax does not apply to trucks used commercially but exclusively in hauling for farmers provides, as near as can be estimated,
a complete exemption for farmers and farm products from the effects of the new tax.

It means that a truck owner who makes a business of transporting milk and other products for farmers does not have to pay the tax and removes the complaint that farmers who pay to have their hauling done
will incur the additional expense.

Farmers who do their hauling individually or in a cooperative capacity are exempt and so are the proprietors of plants or factories,
or their agents who transport farm products to the primary market at such plants or factories.

The Public Service commission is charged with interpreting and enforcing the law. Its new ruling reverses an order issued last December
just before the law went into effect.
The decision followed hearings with farmers, farm hauliers and legislators.

The commission said that over two years of its ruling, trouble in Wisconsin is hardly to be primary markets not by the producer but through some form of agency and that if the tax were assessed in these instances it would not be in keeping with the legislative intent
for a complete exemption of farm products.

It was believed here that these exemptions will play a big part in the tax which has been brought by expected truck operators who are testing the constitutionality of the ton mile tax. They claim it is discriminatory, not only as to rates,
but on the specifications as to the kind of trucks that must pay. The tax applies only to trucks weighing three tons or more which travel the highways and was assessed as a means of assessing against the heavier vehicles some of the cost of the year and year they give the roads.

FLIERS MUST REMAIN
FAR ALOFT OVER PRISON
McAlester, Okla.—(AP)—Guards at the state penitentiary here have been ordered by Warden Sam Brown to fire on airplanes that fly over the prison at an altitude less than 1, 500 feet. Special long range rifles have been given to the guards. The weapons, however, are not anti-aircraft guns.

Warden Brown said warnings sent to airports over the state that planes should not fly over the prison led to erroneous reports today that a plot existed to bomb the penitentiary.

BORAH ATTACKS
RAILROAD LOAN

Calls Attention to Reconstruction Corp's. Statement on Issue

Washington—(AP)—Trouble threatened today in the senate over the recent $12,500,000 loan to the Missouri Pacific Railroad company by the reconstruction corporation.

Senator Borah (R., Idaho) called attention to the loan and the "reluctance" of the Interstate Commerce commission to approve it. He said he had information that "every form of pressure within reason and decency was used to bring about this loan."

Chairman Couzens of the senate interstate commerce committee, said he was investigating the loan and would discuss it tomorrow.

The interstate commission, in approving the loan, said it did so only at the insistence of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and protested that part of the loan was to be used in taking up a private loan
by the road from New York bankers.

Senator Johnson (R., Calif.) suggested to Couzens that he discuss in his speech tomorrow "government for and by the international bankers."

"I think," replied Couzens, "that the Van Sweringens and the treasurer of the Republican National committee (Jas. R. Nutt of Cleveland) were more effective in this

Peace Parley Remains Deadlocked On Jap Troop Withdrawal

CHINESE FIRM IN POSITION ON OLD QUESTION

No Gradual Withdrawal to Be Accepted, Chinese Spokesman States

Shanghai — (P) — Chinese and Japanese negotiations for a truce at Shanghai continued deadlocked today over the question of Japanese troop withdrawals.

The Chinese delegates held steadfastly to their decision to accept no compromise on this phase of the question, declaring this was the crux of the Nanking government's position. "They must either withdraw entirely or not at all," a spokesman said, "we will accept no gradual withdrawal."

A spokesman for the Japanese said the parleys would be continued, however.

Chinese military authorities accused the Japanese of insincerity. General Tsai Tung-Kai, poet-general, who led the Nineteenth Route army during the defense of Shanghai, said they were "stalling for time."

In spite of the deadlock, there were reports on the outside that the negotiations were not hopeless. These reports said the Japanese had decided to curtail sharply their demands regarding the occupation of Chinese territory around Shanghai and it was also rumored that the Chinese were less pessimistic about the outcome of the conferences.

The negotiations ran into further difficulties today over the sniping of soldiers.

The Japanese, claiming that sniping by the Chinese civilians continued to be a serious menace to the lives of Japanese nationals, demanded some assurance that it would be stopped. The Chinese said the sniping was not authorized and that they could not be responsible for such activities.

Report More Snipers

Today Japanese headquarters reported snipers had killed four more Japanese soldiers.

This argument over sniping developed during discussion of a new draft of the principal points proposed as requisite to an armistice.

The three outstanding considerations are definite cessation of hostilities, establishing the position of the Chinese force and agreeing upon the method of the Japanese withdrawal.

The second point brought from the Chinese the assertion that any Chinese troops on Chinese soil would be regarded as a violation of China's "sovereign rights. This matter and the point regarding Japanese withdrawal was placed in the hands of the military sub-committee which will meet on Wednesday.

As this session ended, Mamoru Shigemitsu, the Japanese spokesman, said he was still hopeful of an ultimate agreement. Quoting the Chinese head of the Chinese group, would say only, "The Japanese certainly are strong on argument."

Changchun, Manchuria — (P) — Japanese military aviators bombed Chinese insurgent concentrations north of Nungun today and the aviators, returning here, reported they believed the Chinese casualties were heavy.

They said they saw a small Japanese force with a contingent of Hsi Hsia's Kurn provincial troops facing an insurgent advance in the Nungun district and they considered it a serious menace to Changchun, the capital, itself. A portion of General Jiro Tamon's Japanese division at Harbin prepared immediately to proceed to Nungun.

Japanese military intelligence reports indicated the rebel force numbered 7,000, including several units of Hsi Hsia's troops which have gone over to the enemy.

The forces of the present Kirin Garrison at Nungun were considered doubtful by officials here and they said they believed the occupation of Nungun by the rebels was inevitable, after which the latter probably would advance toward Changchun.

Hsi Hsia also sent reinforcements from Kirin to Changchun preparatory to defending the capital.

The rebels, under the command of Li Hai-Tsing, apparently were using the city of Pu-Yu, which they captured March 18, as a base and were in full control of the district south of there, having occupied several towns, including Kuanghsia.

The latter place is the central city of Prince Chai, representative of the Mongolian in the new federated Changchun regime. The prince, who is still here, was unable to communicate with his subordinates back home.

Nanking, China — (P) — The League of Nations inquiry committee on prepared today to begin its inquiry into Sino-Japanese difficulties of the last few months in conferences with Chinese government leaders in the national capital.

The commission arrived from Shanghai yesterday and the whole city turned out in holiday fashion to greet the group of representatives of the five great neutral nations.

The Chinese breathed a sigh of relief with the commission at hand and there was a let-down in various defense preparations that had been under way.

The commission was greeted of officials by members of the government.

LESLIE M. SHAW

LESLIE M. SHAW DIES AT CAPITAL

Was Secretary of Treasury Under Roosevelt, and Former Iowa Governor

Washington — (P) — Death came early this morning to Leslie M. Shaw, 84, who was secretary of the treasury under President Roosevelt and before that attained national prominence as governor of Iowa.

He succumbed to double pneumonia, developed from a cold he contracted several weeks ago on a business trip to New York. His widow survives him, with a daughter, Mrs. John McMullin, and a son, Earl Shaw, now in Minneapolis.

In recent years the former secretary devoted himself to writing on financial topics on which he was an authority, and to rather extensive business interests. He had just finished the manuscript of a book on the government payroll.

All his life, Shaw's attention was centered on finance, first as an Iowa lawyer and banker, then as a gold-standard advocate at the crest of the free-silver storm. It was after extensive championing of this cause that he was chosen governor of Iowa in 1898. He served two terms, to 1902. Then Roosevelt called him to Washington. Returning to private life, he turned financial setback which suffered him to lecturing and writing. Advancing age caused him to yield the platform some years ago.

He was born in Morrisville, Vt., removed early to Iowa, but made Washington his home upon leaving public service.

SEEK PROGRAM FOR JOBLESS GRADUATES

Herbert Helble, Herb Heilig Going to Conference at Madison

Herbert Helble, principal of Appleton high school, and Herb Heilig, director of Appleton Vocational school, will attend the educational conferences in Madison next Saturday when heads of state educational agencies meet to discuss a program for high school graduates who have been unable to find work.

Mr. Helble will represent the Wisconsin High School Principals' association as its president.

Mr. Heilig also will attend an annual meeting for vocational school directors Friday. Other school officials in Appleton may attend.

The session on graduate unemployment is an outgrowth of a recent meeting at which George P. Hambricht, state director of vocational education, presented the subject in a survey report. This survey had been made by Mr. Hambricht, Frank O. Holt, director of the University of Wisconsin bureau of records and guidance, and O. H. Plante, assistant state superintendent of schools.

Graduates of state high schools have a tendency to become drifters unless guided into useful fields of employment, the survey shows. Many are returning to high schools for additional work because of a lack of funds or employment to continue with college work.

The Saturday meeting will be attended by representatives from the department of public instruction, the state board of vocational education, the university of bureau records and guidance, the Wisconsin High School Principals' association, the Wisconsin City Superintendents' association and the university extension director.

The department of public instruction recommends work in vocational schools and the university extension director for high school graduates.

Clark leaves for Chicago camp meet.

M. G. Clark, valley scout executive, left today for Chicago, Ill., to attend the annual camp conference at Barton Seven. Executives from Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois and Indiana are expected to attend.

The conference will be in session Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the Congress hotel. Camp leaders of the National Council will speak.

Exempt Milk Haulers From Ton Mile Tax

Assemblyman Oscar J. Schmiede today received word from the Public Service commission that by a new order, milk haulers and others engaged directly in the transportation of dairy and other farm products from the point of production to the primary market are exempt from the provisions of the ton mile tax.

Previously, the commission had ruled that this type of hauler was obliged to come under the ton mile tax, and Mr. Schmiede, along with several other legislators, protested to the commission that this was not the intent of the law.

Under the new order, farm exemptions include farmers hauling in a cooperative or other capacity for themselves or other farmers either for hire or not, those transporting dairy or other farm products for hire from the point of production to the primary market and the proprietor of a plant or factory or his agents transporting such products to a primary market, whether in any of these cases, such products are transferred from a single point or from several points of production.

In the same order, the commission ruled that the farmer cannot be taxed for the "back haul." That is, he cannot be taxed if he uses his truck to bring back some commodities to the farm after hauling his product to market, Mr. Schmiede explained.

FORTESCUE DEFENSE NOT YET OUTLINED

Attorneys Waiting for Prosecution to Show Its Hand in Honolulu Case

Honolulu — (P) — With the trial of second degree murder charges against Mrs. Granville Fortescue and three naval men set for next Monday, competent observers said today defense attorneys have yet to lay their plans for the court battle.

Court attaches predict the defense will not take definite shape until the prosecution has shown its hand. The Washington and New York society woman; her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie; and two enlisted men, E. J. Lord and Albert O. Jones are accused of the lynching of Joseph Kahahawai, young Hawaiian.

Circuit Judge Charles S. Davis has indicated a willingness to continue the case a week if more time is needed by Clarence Darrow, noted Chicago criminal attorney, to prepare his defense.

Darrow was taken ill Friday night a day after his arrival here, and confined to his hotel bed all Saturday with a stomach ailment. Naval physicians reported he was improved yesterday.

Kahahawai, one of five men accused of assaulting Mrs. Massie Sept. 12, was abducted and slain Jan. 8. Police found his body in a motor car driven by Mrs. Fortescue.

The defense is expected to challenge the legality of evidence obtained at the Fortescue home, where Jones was arrested, on the ground that it was obtained without a search warrant.

This includes a door torn from its hinges which the territory claims indicated a struggle with Kahahawai; and a sheet which the prosecution avers was wrapped around the victim's body.

One of the largest suits ever filed by the United States government against an individual is now being pressed against F. B. Benedum, are alleged to have occurred in 1919.

Bitter Fight Is Predicted In Michigan

Lansing, Mich. — (P) — An advance guard of members of the legislature reached here today for what may be one of the most important and bitter, special sessions in the history of the state.

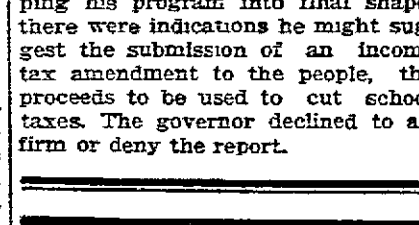

The session opens Tuesday afternoon and until then the details of Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker's tax relief program will not be made public. It is expected he will advocate the return of more automobile license money to the counties, may suggest something as a means of school tax relief, will recommend making the payment of delinquent taxes easier and will offer amendments to the banking laws designed to give depositors more adequate protection.

Some opposition to almost every one of his suggestions is likely. The session may last two weeks, a month, or longer, depending upon how controversial the issues become.

A group of senators, following an informal, private meeting said they were unanimous in their opposition to new forms of taxation. The group was made up of senators from several sections of the state. Their antipathy was directed principally toward the direct enactment of new sources of revenue by the legislature, it was understood whether it will extend to proposals for constitutional amendments providing for an income or other form of taxation was a question, but some of those who attended the meeting indicated it would.

The governor studied the school tax situation carefully during the preparation of his message. As reported last week, when he was whipping his program into final shape, there were indications he might suggest the submission of an income tax amendment to the people, the proceeds to be used to cut school taxes. The governor declined to affirm or deny the report.

Mrs. Hoover Takes Part In White House Lawn Festival

Washington — (P) — After a rainy and unpropitious start, the White House Easter egg rolling fête became more popular today with Mrs. Hoover joining a throng upon the lawn to distribute small gifts to all the children present.

Although a chilly northwest wind whipped the spray of White House fountains for 50 feet, nearly 2,000 children and members of their families had come and gone from the south lawn by noon. The rain had ceased.

Earlier, the first lady played hostess to about 150 children of Washington officials inside the executive mansion. Surrounded by Easter baskets in the green room, she formed a receiving line, handing a colored egg to each child who passed en route to the refreshment tables in the state dining room.

HEATED CAMPAIGN FOR DELEGATES IN ITS FINAL WEEK

Governor LaFollette's Policies Center of Interest in State

Milwaukee — (P) — Candidates for election as delegates to the national political conventions in Chicago wind up their campaigns this week prior to the election April 5.

The battle has been heated, with the major parties split. Conservative Republicans, having given "tacit approval" to the Hoover administration and having adopted a resolution for a prohibition referendum, are putting an unpledged group of candidates before the voters insofar as the presidency is concerned. The Progressive Republicans are instructed for Senator George W. Norris for president.

But the presidential race, political observers say, will be in the background. The chief point of interest is what the voter thinks of Wisconsin's governor.

While Governor LaFollette is not a candidate for election as a delegate, the conservatives have made their campaign largely an attack upon his policies. The voter, in choosing between the LaFollette state of candidates and the conservative slate, will be registering approval or disapproval of the governor, politicians say.

Conservatives have assailed the LaFollette theory of taxing incomes to redistribute wealth as "driving industry from the state."

The governor, speaking in behalf of his candidates, said: "I have no apology to make for my tax program."

LaFollette and his adherents insist that during times of depression business recovery can be aided by using the taxing power to take money from the wealthy and redistribute it to the citizenry through state projects and state aid, and thus enhance the buying power of the public.

Democrats will have opportunity to vote for two slates of delegates, one pledged to the candidacy of Governor Roosevelt of New York, and the other unpledged, but repeatedly friendly to former Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

Prohibition plays a minor role. The four factions are all moist, wet, or noncommittal. The conservatives are for a national referendum; the Progressives for modification; and both Democratic slates are wet. Wisconsin dry, if he votes solely on that issue, will have opportunity to register disapproval of modification by voting for a prohibition slate of delegates.

FLORIDA GUARDS TURN BACK GROUP BENT ON LYNCHING

Lakeland, Fla. — (P) — National guardsmen were called out here last night after a mob threatened to storm the city jail where four prisoners were held in the slaying of two policemen.

The officers, T. A. Nicholson, 35, and W. T. Barnett, 47, were shot at the home of Sam Acree where they had gone on a complaint that two men were fighting there.

J. E. Johnston, one of the prisoners, said he shot Nicholson as the officer scuffled with Perry Acree. A coroner's jury held that Perry Acree killed Barnett.

Besides Perry Acree and Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Acree were arrested. There were cries of "lynch them, lynch them," as a crowd gathered about the jail.

Much of Furniture is Saved as Fire Razes Home Near Shiocton

The two-story farmhouse of Mrs. William Helsner, three miles east of Shiocton, burned to the ground Sunday afternoon. Although the house was destroyed, most of the household goods were saved. The loss, estimated at $2,500, is partly covered by insurance.

The fire, caused by a defective chimney, was discovered by a son, Wilfred, who called the Shiocton fire department. The fire had gained too much headway to save the house or the furniture on the second floor.

Milwaukee's Rating Hit By Boston Finance Commission

Boston — (P) — Milwaukee's claim to fame as highest ranking American city in point of financial rating has been challenged by the Boston Finance commission, which asserts that Boston enjoys a far superior position in the matter of municipal debts and taxation.

In a report just submitted to the commission by its secretary, Robert E. Cuniff, Mayor Daniel W. Hoan of Milwaukee, is accused of "high pressure salesmanship" and "dramatizing claims."

A comparison of the statistics of the two cities shows, the report says that Milwaukee, with a taxable valuation of $97,842,350, or less than one half that of Boston, $198,010,000, has a municipal debt of $46,380,000 against Boston's debt of $65,071,000; and that Milwaukee's debt and share of county indebtedness is $54,217,072 as compared with similar Boston indebtedness of $66,071,629.

The report says Milwaukee's percentage of debt to $1,000 valuation is $1.70 for city debt and $55.60 for combined city and county, against $33.20 for Boston debt and $33.81 for city and county obligations.

The percentage of increase of Milwaukee's debt for 10 years was placed at 115, against 40 per cent for Boston; the increase in valuation at 43 per cent in Milwaukee against 23 per cent in Boston, and the Milwaukee tax rate jumped 69 per cent in nine years against an increase of 50 per cent in Boston.

Cuniff found that Milwaukee, instead of occupying a place at the head of American cities, was staggering under a rapidly increasing debt, suffering from burdensome taxation and was employing a system of taxation which was twice as costly to the taxpayers as was the Boston method of financing in anticipation of taxes.

MARK CATLIN IS EQUALLY AT HOME ON GRID OR STAGE

Appleton Man, Student at University, in Haresfoot Show

Madison—Proving that he is equally at home in the stadium or in the theatre and that kinks and patent leather dancing slippers are not such far fetched combinations after all, Mark Catlin, senior at the University of Wisconsin and regular end on the nineteen thirty-one football team, plays one of the leading male roles in "Lucky Breaks," the 24th annual production of the University of Wisconsin Haresfoot club, which will be presented in Menasha at the Erie Theatre on April 12.

This year's Haresfoot show is an other revue, repeating the outstanding success scored by last year's production, "It's a Gay Life" in which Catlin made a hit in the "Dear Little Burg by the Sea" number. "Lucky Breaks" marks Catlin's fourth appearance in a Haresfoot show. Starting out as a member of the male chorus he has advanced steadily, first to featured dancing roles, then into the regular cast.

Catlin's presence on the gridiron seems to run in the family. His father was the outstanding player on the University of Chicago football team many years ago and was recognized as one of the greatest players of the period. Until a few years ago the elder Catlin was coach at Lawrence college, Appleton, Wisconsin whence Mark hails from. Moreover Mark's older brother, John, will be remembered as chairman of the 1930 Prom at the University of Wisconsin.

INDIAN PRINCES IN NEW DELHI CONFAB

Viceroy Assures Maharajahs of Continued Protection from Britain

New Delhi, India—(AP)—The eleventh meeting of the Indian chamber of Princes was opened today by Viceroy Lord Willingdon in a bewildering setting of jewels, embroidered robes and royal pomp.

The maharajahs of the independent states, arrayed in gemstudded turbans, diamond ear rings and close-fitting robes, reminded one of conchaves of historic kings.

Foregoing the viceroy's customary advice to the princes about running their states, Lord Willingdon confined himself to assuring the princes that Great Britain would continue to give them protection, not only against the activities of the national congress, but against "subversive" tendencies from any source.

Commenting on the emergency ordinances to suppress the civil disobedience movement, he said:

"Repression by force cannot be an end in itself. It is my firm belief that we shall before long inaugurate a new era in India's constitutional history. But I am determined, at all costs, to secure and maintain peaceful conditions under which alone such progress can be made."

Discussing the matter of the princes joining the proposed federation of British and Indian states, the viceroy said, cautiously:

"I sympathize keenly with your doubts and misgivings in embarking on this new adventure but it is a source of great satisfaction that you have recently reached decisions not inconsistent with the early establishment of a federal system in India."

U. S. Watches Europe's Efforts To Form Danubian Trade Accord

TARIFF UNION SEEN AS HELP FOR BUSINESS

Britain and France May Make Loan to Steady Currencies of 5 Nations

Washington—(P)—The state department and members of the diplomatic corps in Washington are watching with keen interest the efforts to create a confederation of Danubian states for the purpose of relieving the economic distress of central and eastern Europe.

The proposed confederation seems more likely to be accomplished since Premier Tardieu of France has agreed to meet the British prime minister in London next week to discuss the economic condition of central Europe. Chancellor Brüning of Germany, and Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy, have been invited to join the conference.

This proposed confederation, which may develop into a tariff union, would include Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Hungary and Rumania. It is hoped by Great Britain and France, the chief movers in support of the effort for economic relief, that such a union would be a first step toward a similar confederation that can be effected later between Bulgaria, Greece and Turkey, which form another natural group for cooperation in the improvement of their economic situation.

The Danubian confederation is an effort somewhat similar to that which prompted the movement to organize a German-Austrian tariff union, which was discontinued because of the opposition of great European powers. It is contemplated under the proposed confederation that Great Britain and France would make a loan, probably $50,000,000, to steady the currencies of the five Danubian nations. But this loan would be granted only in case the members of the confederation reach satisfactory agreement as to the tariff charges they would levy against each other, and on condition that the tariff wall against powers outside the confederation should be of equal height against all non-member powers.

American bankers will probably be asked to participate with the French and British in financing the stabilization of the currency of the five members of the confederation in case of a plan satisfactory to non-member powers is agreed upon.

Germany, Italy and France originally showed a disposition to ask preferential treatment for their wares entering the proposed Danubian confederation, but France has now altered its position.

Germany is also reported here to be modifying its attitude and hope was expressed in official circles that Italy will do the same in an effort to get business started again in central Europe.

HELD IN CHICAGO ON CHARGE OF CAR THEFT

Chester Kruse, alias Chester Krause alias Charles Krause, is being held by Chicago police, according to word received here by Sheriff John Lappen, pending disposition by Outagamie-co authorities.

Kruse is wanted here on a charge of stealing a small sedan in September, 1928, from Ernest Wilfner, then residing in Maple Creek.

Kruse was arrested several weeks later in Chicago and while county authorities were getting extradition papers for him he gained liberty on $1,500 bond. When Sheriff Fred Giese went to Chicago to get him he failed to appear and the bond was ordered forfeited. If county authorities do not get him now he probably will be held by Chicago authorities for jumping his bond. It is said he is in Chicago.

PLAN THREE FARM GROUP MEETINGS

Will Study Management, System of Bookkeeping and 1932 Crops

Three farm management study club meetings have been scheduled this week by Gustav E. Sell, county agent.

The first will be held at Seymour fireman's rooms at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon, the second will be at the village hall at Bear Creek on Thursday, and the third at Legion hall, Hortonville, on Friday.

Mr. Sell has asked farmers to bring books they have started to work on for keeping farm records. Any time between Jan. 1 and April 1 is a good time to start the records, he said. The project was discussed with county farmers several weeks ago and many of them have been taking inventories and making a record of expenditures and receipts.

Crop plans for the year also will be discussed. Needs and adjustments of various farmers will be considered and suggestions made.

The three meetings are follow-ups on the farm meetings in Appleton early in March at which time Prof. J. F. Hall of the University of Wisconsin discussed farm management. He will be here again April 18 to 20, and it is Mr. Sell's plan to have several management clubs started so he may criticize and offer suggestions.

Skies will be cloudy tonight and there must be some precipitation in the form of rain or snow. Similar predictions have been forecast over most of the middlewest for tonight and Tuesday.

Winds are shifting in the north and northeast, a good indication that some wet weather is on the way. At 6 o'clock Monday morning the mercury registered 29 degrees above zero and at noon it registered 45 degrees above.

GARNER READY TO MAKE PLEA FOR TAX BILL

New Obstacles Loom for Oil and Coal Import Taxes in House

he might take the floor tomorrow to appeal to the house to pass a tax bill that would accomplish this.

"I advocated the sales tax because I thought it was the easiest way to balance the budget as a temporary measure," he said, "but the house did not care for that kind of tax. We will have to turn to other taxes to get the revenue to balance the budget."

"Unless the budget is balanced foreign exchange will depreciate and I don't know what would happen. You would find the dollar would be affected in foreign exchanges."

Asked whether there was growing sentiment in the house to permit the senate to draft the revenue bill, Garner said:

"I hope not."

The Texan said he would make a strenuous fight in order to get enough revenue to meet the running expenses of the government.

"If you were in England or France or Italy or in any other country where the government was running behind in its operating expenses $5,000,000 a day and no effort was made by the government to meet the situation, you wouldn't keep your money in that country," Garner said.

SERIOUS DANGER

"You would get it out of that country. The same thing might apply to this country unless the budget is balanced."

Meanwhile, Representative Rankin (D., Miss.), a leader of the anti-sales group, in a statement said the house "committed a terrible blunder, when it inserted into the tax bill amendments providing for high protective tariffs on oil and coal."

"These amendments should be stricken from the bill by all means and I shall bend every effort to that end," he said.

"If the first place a protective tariff provision has no place in a tax bill. This bill is not designed to protect special interests at the expense of the American people. The object of it is to raise revenue. And even if a protective tariff were ever justified, this would be the worst time that could be found to impose it."

Ninth Graders Hold Mock Trial To Learn About Courts

When ninth graders want to learn all about courts, cross questioning and jury procedure, they put aside their social science books and hold a mock trial. Thus it came about that Robert McNish was tried on a criminal charge of eating candy in class.

Warrants were issued, witnesses subpoenaed, lawyers selected and after great preparation the court convened recently under fair Judge Marion Basch.

The courtroom filled with students, reporter Mary Esteson sat at an adjoining table, while Clerk of Court Mary Jane Mader swore in each of the 12 jurors in court form.

Prosecuting Attorney Reva Cohen presented the charge, sworn out by plaintiff Marian Dettman. Banks Barber substantiated the testimony of the plaintiff as a witness for the state. After serious cross examination and discussions on the part of the lawyers, District Attorney Cohen and Theodore Gerald, of the defense, the jury presented an acquittal after four minutes deliberation. Witnesses for the defense included Ralph Bohl and Ralph Danielson.

Questions flew back and forth, charts were brought out by the state's attorney and a deficiency of dates in the warrant discovered by the lawyer for the defense, all of which featured the trial. Jurors included Helen Pierre, foreman, Olga Commentz, Margaret Williams, Evelyn Buchholz, Madeline Nohr, Gerald Vest, William Dutrois, James Abbot, William Dutcher, Ruth Gutowski, Ione Herrmann and Ellen Hoffman.

DELINQUENT TAX LIST IN COUNTY TOTALS $295,062

$126,000 More Than Year Ago — Represents 6,912 Descriptions

Delinquent taxes reported to Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer, total $295,062.10, she announced today. The tax represents 6,912 descriptions.

The tax total is $126,000 more than in 1931, when the delinquent list was $169,615.49 and represented 4,509 descriptions. The fact that many districts and most of the cities allowed tax payers to sign affidavits of inability to pay taxes before July 1, caused the great increase.

Appleton's list is the largest for any county district. It totals $130,237.64 and represents 2,100 descriptions. The city of Kaukauna delinquent list totals $37,553.83.

Combined Locks village has the smallest delinquent list of any district, $47.52. The town of Grand Chute, the highest assessed township in the county, has a delinquency total of $14,928.24 while the town of Oneida is next with $11,999.65.

ACADEMY HONORS FRANCIS BRADFORD

Former Appleton Man Elected to National Academy of Design

Francis Scott Bradford, New York, son of Mrs. F. S. Bradford, 312 W. Prospect-ave, has been elected to the National Academy of Design, one of the greatest honors that can be bestowed upon an American artist.

Mr. Bradford, who painted the murals in the new Milwaukee-co courthouse, is one of the youngest mural painters in the country to be elected to the academy, and one of few mural painters who has been so honored.

The artist, who studied in the school of the academy and who won the Prix de Rome in 1923, devotes himself principally to murals.

The National Academy of Design is one of the oldest art organizations in the country and is considered the stronghold of conservatism. It was founded by Samuel F. B. Morse, artist and inventor of the telegraph, in 1825.

TAX EXEMPT BONDS IMPORTANT FACTOR IN "SOAK THE RICH"

Opponents of Policy Say It Would Tie Up Funds and Hurt Business

BY J. R. BRACKETT
Associated Press Financial Writer

New York—(P)—How far can the man with a large income go in avoiding federal income taxes by putting his money into tax exempt securities?

Those who want to "soak the rich" say he can't go very far; those who oppose extra high taxes insist such levies would make a lot of income flee into exempt securities to the detriment of business enterprise.

There is more than $25,000,000,000 in securities which cannot be taxed for income by the federal government. The largest part of this is $17,000,000,000 in state, county and municipal bonds which cannot be taxed at Washington, on the theory that such taxation presumes the right of the government to tax the states and other political subdivisions in other ways—even out of existence.

There is also about $3,500,000,000 in short term government securities; about $1,300,000,000 in Liberty 3½'s; about $200,000,000 in bonds of our territories; about $2,500,000,000 in the bonds of the federal and joint land banks—or a total of about $25,000,000,000. To this total should be added certain other government bonds which are tax exempt up to $5,000, and thereafter subject to surtaxes.

Early Starter

Early in 1900, Henry Wilcke, Detroit, inventor, submitted plans for a starting jack to the Patent Office. This jack was supposed to aid in the then vigorous process of starting a car. The jack was fitted on the rear axle and was hand-operated by the driver in the car's seat. At a certain height the jack would tip and throw the car forward at enough speed to start it on the way. Needless to say this invention wasn't adopted.

One of the first horns or "alarms" invented for an automobile was that of Gaston E. Cordeau of Brooklyn. This horn was operated by the foot through the floorboards of the car. It was attached underneath, and a plunger was fitted through the boards. The mechanism consisted of a bellows similar to that used in small insect spray boxes. A spring inside forced the plunger back when it had been depressed. Air created by the bellows actuated the horn.

John V. Sutton of Brooklyn perfected what was thought to be the last word in automobile speed indicators in 1902. His invention made use of colors in designating different speeds. A plate, worked by the forward motion of the front wheels of the car, slid back and forth according to the speed of the wheels.

If Color-Blind, What?

At eight miles an hour the plate would slide over a white section, and this color would be revealed to the driver by an opening. At 10 miles an hour the driver would see yellow—and on any of his frequent forced stops he would see red.

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS TO MEET WEDNESDAY

Outagamie-co Holstein breeders will meet at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening at the home of Walter Wickert, route 4, Appleton. Members will bring their wives. Problems of farmers will be discussed.

The driving comfort of the motorist was thought of as far back as 1905 by William H. Parker of Royal Oak, Mich. In these days of dust, and goggles, Parker thought of a dust allayer for automobiles.

His invention consisted of fans mounted on the back of the car, and driven by the car's engine. These fans would revolve at all times and would blow the dust in all directions away from the motorist. Pedestrians, however, as well as housewives with washes on the line, didn't benefit much by this apparatus.

Safety in driving in 1907 was the subject of Luther Prinnell Barrett's inventive efforts. This St. Louis inventor submitted for patenting an automobile "fender." This device was so named because it was used to "fend" anything out of the road of the car.

Modern Bumper's Dad

It consisted of a revolving drum, fixed with lattice work, which turned in front of the car. On coming into contact with anything the drum was supposed to turn that object out of the road. No report was offered as to its success in a run-in with a telephone pole.

Another early starting device was thought of by a Kalamazoo, Mich., inventor. His apparatus consisted of a hinged arrangement of the body. This allowed the front to be jacked high up above the wheels. A release button would let the weight of the body fall on a series of cogs which, in turn, would rotate the crankshaft and start the engine.

Augustus L. Moss, Sandusky, O., inventor, developed a sanding machine to be used to stop skidding. This device released sand under the wheels of the moving car at the will of the driver. In those days of iron tires, however, the sand worked to the opposite effect on pavements, and the invention was short lived.

One inventor got a bright idea for an attachment for an automobile horn. It consisted of a phonographic setup carrying a record full of different warnings that might be broadcast as needed by touching a switch. Not having instructions for back-seat drivers, however, the device soon passed out of existence.

FARMERS WILL PLAN COOPERATIVE DAIRY

Farmers residing near Kaukauna will meet at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon at Forester hall, above the Farmers and Merchants bank, Kaukauna, to discuss plans for a cooperative dairy company. A Kaukauna committee has been making plans for organization of the dairy and for Wednesday's meeting. They will report on various aspects of the project.

Limbo Of Auto Inventions Shows Efforts Of Experts

Washington—What a vehicle the modern automobile would be if it incorporated some of the early inventions filed in the U. S. Patent office!

Ever since the automobile was introduced in America, it has furnished a fertile field for the inventor. Some inventions submitted in the early part of the 20th century were astounding then, and hailed as revolutionary appliances and developments. But today some of them seem comical.

One of the most unusual automobile appliances listed in the 1904 record of the Patent Office is that of Henry M. Landes' of Sacramento, Calif. Landes' idea was a "stepper" for an automobile to be used in aiding a car to climb a steep hill.

In those early days a car's power on a hill was generally woefully weak. Landes' invention was operated by an auxiliary motor, and consisted of a curved bar resting on the ground behind the car. When the old bus had a hard time making a hill the auxiliary engine was started and the bar at the rear operated in the manner of a foot, raising, lowering and shoving the car ahead.

SUGAR TREE SONG INDIANS' PLEA FOR SPRING SAP HARVEST

Ashtand—(P)—The Sugar Tree Song, a weird chant of the Chippewas, was heard last night in Odanah, Indian village of the Bad River reservation. Throughout the night the singing continued, while old men beat drums, young men danced and women heaped branches on a dozen camp-fires.

The Sugar Tree Song and dance is an appeal to the Great Spirit to make the maple sap flow freely and to keep evil spirits away while the Indians are gathering the annual maple syrup crop.

Words of the Sugar Tree Song are a Chippewa secret and only members of the tribe are permitted to witness the spring time ceremony. Some older members of the tribe retain their faith in the supplications to the Great Spirit, while some of the younger Indians participate in the ceremony to keep alive a colorful tradition.

At dawn the dancers and singers appeared to the maple sugar groves.

Finer Ideals of Service

No commercial enterprise can be successful in the true sense of the word unless those in charge of it have high ideals of responsibility and service. Ideals are of particular importance in the funeral directing profession. The mortician has an unusual opportunity to render sympathetic service, and a sacred trust is reposed in the performance of this service. Back of the many details which make up the work of this institution are the fundamental ideals and principles upon which our reputation has been built.

BEER QUESTION NOT LIKELY IN HIGHEST COURT

If Congress Should Legalize
4 Per Cent Drink Court Might Not Act

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1932 by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—Would the Supreme Court of the United States have to pass on the constitutionality of a bill to legalize 4 per cent beer? Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, Republican, author of such a bill, is convinced that the issue need not and, in his opinion, probably could not, be brought before the supreme court for review. He said Saturday that he had originally believed a review by the supreme court would be inevitable but that he changed his opinion after exploring the legal problems involved.

"Supposing congress repealed the Volstead act," the senator said, "then there would be no enforcement statute. Would that repeal be unconstitutional? How would it get before the supreme court? Supposing the congress were to say that the penalties and restrictions of the Volstead act were only to apply to hard liquor containing more than 30 per cent alcohol. How could you bring that before the supreme court?"

Right to Change
"My bill amending the Volstead act and legalizing 4 per cent beer merely changes the percentages of beverages to which the act applies from less than one-half of 1 per cent to 4 per cent. If the congress has the right to repeal the Volstead act, why has it not the right to change the percentage in the bill to which the penalties apply?"

"Remember the Volstead act does not say so in so many words that one-half of 1 per cent is intoxicating. It merely says the act shall apply to all such beverages, namely, one-half of 1 per cent or more. In legalizing 4 per cent beer, we do not say in the act that 4 per cent beer is not intoxicating. That is a moot point. Most doctors believe it is not, some believe it is. All we say is the act shall not apply to anything containing 4 per cent or less."

"On the statute books today there is a provision for taxing beer at the rate of $5 or $6 a barrel. As soon as you change the application of the Volstead act so that it shall not apply to beverages containing 4 per cent or less, you immediately open the door to a very large amount of revenue, estimated at something in the neighborhood of $400,000,000. I do not see why there would be any delay in getting benefits, fiscal, agricultural and economic, from such legislation."

Dry's Lawyers View
The foregoing view is concurred in by the lawyers for the drys only to the extent that if the Volstead act is repealed, so that there is no enforcement act at all, there would be no certain way of getting the issue before the supreme court. This would of course be nullification of the eighteenth amendment by failure to pass appropriate legislation. The drys insist that such a situation would be intolerable because it would mean unrestricted traffic in alcoholic beverages and this would lead sooner or later to definition of the content and hence an issue would be possible.

On the question of whether a case could be brought before the Supreme Court of the United States if the proposed Bingham bill specified that penalties were not to apply to beverages containing less than 4 per cent, the drys by no means agree that there would be any trouble in getting a constitutional question before the court. Prof. Howard Lee McBain of Columbia university, in his book "Prohibition—Legal and Illegal," expresses an opinion that is viewed by the legal authorities of the dry side as essentially sound. He contends: "If congress should perceptibly raise the percentage of alcohol laid down in the definition of intoxicating liquor, it would be indispensable that permits should be required of those who manufacture and sell beverages containing alcohol in the percentages not prohibited."

Permits Only Method
"Some measure of supervision would be manifestly exigent; and permits or licenses would be the only conceivable method of exercising such control. There would be innumerable business operations. Suppose for example that one person brought suit against another upon a contract for the sale of wine of alcoholic content authorized by the law. The eighteenth amendment prohibits the sale of intoxicating liquor. Would such a contract be legal if the wine was in fact intoxicating? Could the courts avoid passing on such a question?"

The probabilities are that the senate will not act favorably on the Bingham bill in this session and already the house has rejected the idea of a beer tax. But the problem may come up in the next congress especially if the wetts achieve the majority they are working to attain.

Your Birthday

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU

By MARY BLAKE
"ARIES"

If March 29th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a. m. to noon, from 3 p. m. to 4 p. m., and from 9:30 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 7 a. m. to 8:45 a. m., and from 6 p. m. to 7:40 p. m.

An unsettled feeling and a desire for change will be created by planetary conditions on March 29th. Any anxieties will prove to be a mere storm in a teacup. "Stick by your guns," and wait for further developments on any affairs of importance. Those with occult interests should further their study and investigations at this time.

Children born on this March 29th will learn very easily, which may prove to be their undoing through the easily acquired habit of leaving everything until the last moment. They should be allowed to drift for themselves as much as possible, as they will be

by nature neither independent, spirited or self-reliant.

The story of your life, as pictured astrologically for a March 29th person, is full of human interest. You will live fully, and not always too wisely, but you are out to know what life has to offer to one who is not afraid to dip too deeply into the cup of life. You do not know the meaning of fear, and worry is not akin to one of your temperaments. You are none too conventional, and feel that everyone is entitled to live their own lives in their own way and according to their own light.

You have both imagination and foresight. The former has been said to be the faculty which represents the future, and the latter the quality which possesses it. You are not afraid of hard work, but are looking for those things which give big returns. You are interested in people who can add something to your own mental, spiritual or material storehouse. You are not interested in, or sympathetic towards, humanity in general.

You are not a saint of good humor when things go wrong, and are free to express your feelings of both pleasure and displeasure.

You resent anyone else pricking your bubbles of vanity, although you enjoy laughing at other people. You are as independent in religion as in other matters of opinion.

BONUS PAYMENT IS BIG ISSUE BEFORE HOUSE

Ways and Means Committee to Consider This Legislation Soon

BY RUBY A. BLACK
Post-Tribune's Washington Correspondent

Washington—Bonus payment will probably be the big issue before the house of representatives when the hard fought issues of the revenue bill have been disposed of.

Resounding to the demands of World War veterans for action, Representative Henry T. Rainey of Illinois, majority floor leader, has promised that the House Ways and Means committee will take up at its next business consideration of bonus legislation.

His announcement followed shortly after a statement made at the White House recently by Rep. Royal C. Johnson, Republican, of South Dakota, to the effect that bonus legislation has less chance now than ever before.

Rainey said that while the American Legion as a national organization is not exerting influence to push the measure through, individuals and veteran groups are exerting a heavy pressure on congress.

Hearing Scheduled

This pressure has been sufficient to persuade house leaders to begin hearings on the adjusted service certificates as soon as the tax bill is out of the way.

Because of the huge sums that would be involved in the full payment of bonus shares and the budget deficit already existing and the difficulty of balancing the budget, administration leaders are known to oppose any moves that might result in immediate liquidation of veterans' claims.

President Hoover, some time ago asked the Legion to withhold demands for large Federal expenditures and as a result the veterans' organization has not officially sponsored the measure.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars has continued its demand for immediate action, however, as have a number of individual legion chapters and other veterans' organizations.

If the measure providing for full payment of bonus certificates succeeds in passing congress and escapes the presidential veto, Wisconsin veterans would receive $52,438,873, according to an estimate of the Veterans' administration.

Amounts which would be paid in several Wisconsin cities are also estimated as follows:

Madison, $1,015,002;
Kenosha, $875,216;
Oshkosh, $710,200;
Eau Claire, $1,135,102;
Milwaukee, $10,590,496.

If the measure to provide for the full payment of bonus certificates becomes a law, Milwaukee-certs will receive the largest amount of payments of any Wisconsin city, $12,933,691.92, being due on veterans' certificates to veterans residing in the county.

Dane-co's share would be $2,011,228.08; Outagamie-co would receive $1,120,178.60; La Crosse-co would receive $971,477.20; Brown $1,253,242.16; and Winnebago, $1,368,936.48.

Blaine Resolutions

Sen. John J. Blaine of Boscombe has introduced a joint resolution in the senate to authorize the attorney general of Wisconsin to examine government records in relation to claims of Wisconsin Indians.

Wisconsin's attorney general John W. Reynolds feels that the state has had to bear more than its share of caring for needy Wisconsin Indians because of the federal government's failure to meet its full obligation to Indians living in the state.

Reynolds has been to Washington several times recently in connection with establishing these claims of Wisconsin Indians against the government and arranged with various members of the Wisconsin delegation to introduce bill allowing the Indians to bring suit against the government in the court of claims, over particular claims.

Before having these bills introduced, in every instance, Reynolds has sought to obtain sufficient evidence to guarantee that the Indians have a case against the government.

Some of the papers needed for proving the Indian's case have not been forthcoming for the mere asking and so Reynolds now wants to have the authority to demand access to such papers.

Blaine's resolution provides "that the attorney general of the State of Wisconsin, or his duly accredited representative, is authorized to examine official letters, papers, documents, and records of the United States government, and to make copies thereof, without expense to the United States; and the departments and the independent establishments of the government shall give access

A TRICK AND A HALF

Disaster is certain at Contract if Opening bids are not sound. One's first duty, therefore, is to pass if one's honor strength is not up to standard. Otherwise a house may be built on sand, foredoomed to spectacular collapse.

But one's second duty—not inferior in importance to the first—is to show one's partner if a hand, not strong enough to bid on originally, has anything in it at all. The making of game may turn upon this intimation. For a game bid, combined hands (unless distribution is especially favorable) need 24 to 26 honor-tricks. Now quite often 4 to 4 honor-tricks are in one hand (insufficient for an initial Forcing bid) and 1 to 13 honor-tricks in the other, but unless the weaker hand cooperates in the bidding, the fact that sufficient combined strength is available will never come to light.

It was to meet this familiar situation that the negative response of one no-trump was devised. This is one of the key ideas of the Forcing system. It is based on the principle that, where once a strong hand has been shown by partner, possible support, though as little as a trick and a half, must be made known. On a trick and a half (in honor strength) a Takeout into one no-trump cannot, at worst, do no harm. The strong minimum prescribed for an Opening suit bid insures this, and it may enable a second suit to be shown and the bidding continued, with the result that game is eventually reached.

Here is a simple case in point from the first Anglo-American test match:

East-West vulnerable.

At the table where England sat North and South, the bidding of this hand was as follows:

North East South West
Pass Pass 1♠ Pass
Pass Pass 2♥ Pass
4♥

South thus played the hand in one spade, North, with his weak spades, and indifferent hand, not thinking support worth while, and North-South, making 9 tricks, scored 130 points.

At our North-South table, however, the negative Takeout was used with great effect. Here the bidding went:

Pass Pass 1♠ Pass
1NT Pass 2♥ Pass
4♥

WEIRD LIGHTING EFFECTS USED IN PLAY AT CHURCH

Weird lighting effects were used to advantage in the preparation of Kenneth Sawyer Goodman's one act play, "Dust of the Road." Sunday night at First Congregational church. The setting was simple, being suggestive of a farm home. A palisade shawl was thrown over the center table, and on it was an old student lamp of pewter of the kind rarely seen in these days. The story concerned a man and wife, hitherto honest, now struggling with the desire to keep money not rightfully theirs. In the form of a tramp comes to them and convinces them that honesty is the only way to happiness, giving himself as an example of one who succumbed to the money temptation.

The play was directed by Miss Josephine Buchanan, and those who took part were Carl Wetzel, Wesley F. Bradburn, and Miss Buchanan. The production staff included Jerome Watt, scenery; Angeline Kilson, costumes, and properties; John Keefe, and William Zuehlke, lighting. About 200 persons attended.

CHURCHES COUNCIL HITS ROME'S STAND ON MIXED MARRIAGE

New York — (AP) — The Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America disavows the Roman Catholic church's attitude on "mixed marriages."

A report by the council's committee on marriages and the home has been approved by the administrative committee, representing 27 Protestant denominations.

The report, it was learned today, takes exception to the Vatican's decree requiring that children born of marriages between Catholics and non-Catholics must be reared in the Catholic church.

The report says: "No religious body which confesses itself Christian can tolerate the imposition upon one of its members of the requirements of another religious body by which the religious scruples of that member are aroused, or acquiesce in the forced upon them by an authority he does not acknowledge."

The report suggests that "where intolerable conditions are imposed by either church, persons contemplating a mixed marriage should be advised not to enter it. This committee protests earnestly against the requirement by any church that children of mixed marriages should be pledged to that church."

ELECTRIC EYE BEATS HUMAN AT SORTING

Employ Light Reflexes in Apparatus to Pick Out Defective Beans

Lowell, Mich. — (AP) — A battery of electric eyes that sorts beans better and quicker than the human eye can do it has resulted in a new requirement being set up by the department of agriculture for "grade 1" bean shipments.

The machine, first of its kind in the country, employs light reflexes to pick out imperfect beans and foreign matter. Its accuracy is such that only one-fourth of one per cent of culls, stones and other matter pass without detection.

Previously, "choice hand picked" beans accepted were allowed one and a half pounds of cull per hundredweight.

In operation of the machine, the beans are passed singly before the "electric eye." When a white bean, which is perfect, passes, the light reflex is normal and the bean goes its way untouched.

But when a discolored bean or foreign matter appears, a different light reflex sets an electric machine in motion and a trigger finger flips the cull aside.

Two carloads of beans a day can be sorted by the machine. Because there were not enough beans in this section to keep the machine in operation, carloads were routed from other parts of the state through Lowell this year.

400 WRITE PEDIGREE OF ENGLISH WORDS

Ann Arbor, Mich. — (AP) — Writing the pedigree of every one of the 100,000 words in the English language is the task of the "giant" of English literature in the task to which Prof. Charles C. Fries of the University of Michigan has set himself.

He will have 400 volunteer readers, mostly college professors. As they read 16th and 17th century books they will copy on slips of paper passages which illustrate meanings assigned to words in use at that time. Between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 slips will be checked and classified, it is estimated.

The dictionary is one of a series of "period" dictionaries intended to show development of the language.

SPEEDY RECOVERY

Madison, Wis. — Joe Wisner, 24, should have a speedy recovery from his attack of diabetes. Dr. Max Davies, Nurse Bertha Schmitt and Mrs. Davies were driven here from Ripon, 57 miles away, by G. W. Booth, former aviator. Booth made the trip in 77 minutes, a speed dangerous enough to do credit to a race driver, considering traffic conditions. Joe was given a good chance of recovery at Wisconsin General hospital.

HE NEVER FORGOT

Texarkana — Joe Hughes found out that Judge Louis Joseph has a good memory. Joe was hailed before the judge on a reckless driving charge. "How do you do?" the judge greeted Joe. "You're the boy who thumbed your nose at me, aren't you?" Joe remembered that he had done that little act six months before. The judge got a big laugh out of casting it up to Joe.

The Grading of Nurses' Schools committee reports on January 1, 1932, there were 233,505 nurses in the profession.

UNIVERSITY PUTS ON BALANCED LUNCHEONS

Urbana, Ill. — (AP) — To help students keep within their food budget allowances and still get necessary food elements, the home economics department cafeteria at the University of Illinois is furnishing a scientifically balanced 25-cent noon lunch.

Prof. Evelyn Smith, in charge of the department, has found that student diets, because of strict food economy, are running too high in starchy foods such as potatoes, rice, macaroni and bread and rolls, and not high enough in fruits, vegetables, milk and eggs.

ARMENIAN STUDENT TRADED FOR GOATS

Cincinnati, Ohio — (AP) — Barker F. Saghatelian, 23, student at the university of Cincinnati, knows what it is to be traded from one master to another for a goat and a kid.

The exchange took place when Turks began their slaughter of Armenians in 1914. Saghatelian's father was among the first killed. Driven across the Arabian desert, he saw his mother and sisters die. He lived for five years as a slave, and then was brought to this country as a result of the work of the Near East relief.

His experience as a child has not prevented his forming a friendship with Eumer Refik, Turkish student. Together they often give concerts, Saghatelian playing the violin and Refik the piano.

More than half the crimes committed in Indiana during the past five years were carried out by persons under 30.

Child Must Write Words In Spelling

BY ANGELO PATRI

This is the time for spelling reviews. The teacher says, "Review the first twenty-five words on your list." Sometimes she asks the child to write them each two times, that makes a lot of work but it is a good way to learn spelling. Spelling is a written exercise and writing it is the way to learn it. But it is not necessary for the child to write each of the words twice. Some of them he knows. Those need no drill. The ones he needs to study are the ones he does not know. Find what they are and dwell on a different list for each pupil. Of course, why not? If the teacher will begin dictating twenty-five words each day from the list, have them corrected, have the child mark each word he missed in his note book, write the checked words twice that night at home, and once in class next day, there will be no time wasted on useless work.

When the people at home help a child to review his spelling list they usually take a book and say, "Spell 'country.'" If he gets it right they think he knows how to spell 'country.' Maybe he does and maybe he doesn't. The only way to test it is to have him write it. He can spell a word orally and miss it when he writes it because the processes are different. He can spell every word perfectly when he is allowed to do so orally and miss them to a word when he writes them. He has been known to do it. The spelling list must be written.

If a child has unusual difficulty with spelling it is well to have his vision tested. It has happened that a child failed again and again in writing his spelling because he could not see well enough to form the letters accurately. Test his hearing. Deficient hearing is likely to cause poor spelling. After that let him write the words he misses two times, no more, dictate them again and have him correct his own paper after which you check it. Do not keep him writing words over and over as nothing is gained by it and the child is fatigued into making fresh errors.

I think that children ought not to be asked to spell words that they cannot use in their daily work. I'd skip all the technical terms, all the names of diseases, all scientific terms in the spelling list. I'd have a list for each school subject printed and a copy given to each child. He can refer to that list when he needs it and with such practice, learn those words that he needs. A child ought to have use for the words he learns to spell.

Spelling is a written exercise. The vocabulary for written languages is different from that of the spoken recitation, the ordinary conversation of the pupils. A fifth year child can recite, "The Cavaliers, who were mostly younger sons of the British aristocracy, settled in Virginia" and have no difficulty about the words. But he couldn't write that answer without special drill on the words because they are hard to spell. The hard words in each subject ought to be listed for ready reference. The spelling list ought to be ordinary words for daily use, easily learned.

The best way to learn them is to write them twice each, saying each letter as it is written, pronouncing each syllable as it is formed. This is for home work, not class work.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

By PEGGY POST

DID YOU ever stop to think seriously about the value of dealing with a modern dairy such as the APPLETON PURE MILK CO. Pasteurized milk is recognized by authorities as the most healthful and sanitary... and this dairy gives it to you from the most modern method. Milk is not just milk after all, it must be rich, pure and healthful before it will do you kiddies any good. That's why this dairy has taken so many pains to have a clean, first class place to prepare the best of milk obtainable. That's why this milk is the "best for baby and for you."

Of the things that have come forth in Appleton shops. Like the very spring flowers that will shoot up in your very own garden soon, one minute not here and the next all-abloom.

DON'T put off having your permanent one minute later, not when the spring-time is starting out so gorgeously as Easter Sunday. Hop right up to ELLYN'S above Volts' drug store and put yourself in competent hands whether it's an adorable $5 one you're after or one of the more expensive. Elyn knows how to make your hair wave and beat this game of hair as stringy as a March thaw. You've only one face and the condition of your hair makes all the difference in the world. Telephone 411 for an appointment.

WALKED into the IDEAL PHOTO and GIFT SHOP and guess what popped up. Johnny Wren and no less, the whistling tea kettle, prima donna of the tea set. It whistles while it works this little lightweight sifter made of shiny aluminum. Terrible easy to pour because it can't be heavier than a few ounces and the black handle is safely riveted on tightly. Actually it whistles and the self same whistle lifts off the spout for pouring.

LUNCHEON at the CANDLE GLOW is a treat. It's one place in town that's lovely and that has excellently prepared food in the second place. Lunch here is inexpensive, attractive and in restful surroundings. Some sunny day walk down here for lunch, you'll always come back. I started in on Sunday night supper, they're especially lovely because of the candle light in the evening. Somehow the Candle Glow tea room is a place to bring one's friends or family. I suppose because it really is charming there.

POST Easter bonnets are alluring. If you don't believe me have yourself a look at VOGUE HAT SHOP soon. There's the sweetest informal dressing hat there I've ever seen. In this lovely new beige, with a crown all tucked and a brim that droops softly around the face in millan. Contrasting facings and big saucy brims feature the new straw and crepe hats. You'll find browns, beige, blues and more black important season colors.

Have you seen them, these purses at HERNER'S that look for all the world like a magnified envelope in leather? Really! all they'd need is a stamp and off they could go. You'll adore the new handbags this spring if this shop is a criterion. Swank black kids, gorgeous blue ones, or the real envelope type in beige piped with a dark brown. Then there are the stunning fabric and patent combinations for sportswear. However, the secret my dears, is that they are merely $2.95!

Last week everyone was wearing winter togs and with Sunday so bright and shiny the world stepped forth in spring. Just everyone was sporting a new straw and if that's not spring I'd like to know what it!

CLASSES RESUMED IN SCHOOLS THIS MORNING

Empty and silent for more than a week, school corridors thronged with busy students again this morning as a 10-day Easter holiday was brought to a close for Appleton public school and German parochial school students. # THE STORY OF SUE

By Margery Hale

CORINNE'S WORDS ANGER SUE

SUE put down the telephone very quickly. She crossed the room, poked the fire to a merrier blaze, then sat down, cross-legged on a Chinese red cushion.

"Now I can talk," she explained. "I didn't dare to, at first. I was so furious. I guess you know what happened. Corinne got on an extension and accused me of asking for charity. Well, that bet's out. I wouldn't take any money from her, not even at any interest, ever. I'd save first. I meant it. She's been telling everyone anyway that Harry turned me down because he loved her and that I was heart-broken because of it. You know—everyone knows—that I never was in love with Harry. I broke my engagement to him. He understood. And he wasn't in love with me, either. He just imagined it. But Corinne can't say... she can't say."

Sue's voice was rising like a night wind coming up too quickly. Now it broke and fell like some shattering thing. Her hands were grasping the tassels of the red cushion and the veins stood out, clear and blue.

"You need something for your nerves," Ruth said, her practical words coming as a relief in the tense room. "I'll get something."

Sue sat very quietly while Ruth ran upstairs. Time was passing rapidly. There was no one else from whom she could borrow the money. Somehow, now that this emotional storm had come, she had lost sight of the train. She knew that she couldn't go. Maybe Jack wasn't so ill.

By tomorrow she would know if he was really ill. In that case, she would go. But she must get the money. She sat erect as a sudden idea came to her. Arnold Page would lend it. He would be glad to let her have it. Sue would see him in the morning.

She sank back on the cushion. When Ruth came downstairs with the pill she was relaxed. Something tight and hard had been loosened.

"I'm going to heat some milk," Ruth said, still in a professional voice. "It will soothe your nerves. I'll have it ready in a minute."

When Ruth came in with the milk she pushed aside some tumbled locks of hair and with it her too-professional manner.

"What do you want me to say?" she asked. "Something consoling and nice, or would you rather I'd express my opinion of some people, or just keep still?"

"Ruth, did you ever lose a silver slipper?" Sue asked suddenly.

"A slipper?" Ruth repeated in surprise. "Oh, yes, of course, weeks ago. At the beginning of my revolt. It belonged to Sally. The night I went to the country club dance and pulled off my stunt I wore Sally's slippers. She was disgustingly mean. I wouldn't stay. I mean... he didn't want me to stay. I started to walk back to town, so I carried the slippers. I knew I shouldn't expect to receive them. Then Dale Courtney picked me up and a slipper bounced out of the car, I guess. Anyway, when I got home it was gone. But why did you ask?"

"Because Corinne said that everybody knows about your Cinderella story," Sue answered. "And that you will, too, tomorrow. She's being melodramatic. That's all. Is that a car stopping outside?"

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

SENSIBLE MOTHER WILL AVOID PERSONAL ANGLE AND TALK COMMON SENSE

Dear Virginia Vane: All my life I have worked and struggled—sacrificed for my children—thinking of nothing but them and their happiness. We were always very poor but managed to give our children the best of everything even when we had to do without ourselves. Now my two children are grown-up and are making their way in the world. They have both married into families of social position and great money. It is very hard now for me to tell my daughter how she is often snubbed by people who don't consider that her background or training are what they should be. I can't help reminding her of how much has been done for her and I can't help being hurt. The same is true in the case of my son. I find that there is a distinct feeling of inconsiderateness in their attitude. Do you think they have the right to mention these things to me after the sacrifices made for them?

MOTHER

Perhaps you are thinking entirely too much of their apparent lack of appreciation and not enough of their feelings in the matter.

However superficial and unworthy the people who snub your daughter, because of the lack they feel in her position or background—they may be people she must meet for business or social reasons—and whom for one reason or another she must endeavor to please. The business world today is a complex affair and there are a great many people whom we would not necessarily choose for friends whom we must please, unfortunately, in order to make our daily bread and butter more secure.

Now just possibly your daughter has found herself in a situation where she must please people who are prejudiced against her—entirely snobbish grounds. She is young enough to be hurt by this, even though she realizes how superficial their objections are. She is shy about discussing the matter with her husband—she certainly doesn't want her mother-

MY NEIGHBOR Says —

To wash silk crepes or georgettes use warm water and white soap. Do not rub, but squeeze the garment through a good suds. Rinse several times and iron on the wrong side when partly dry.

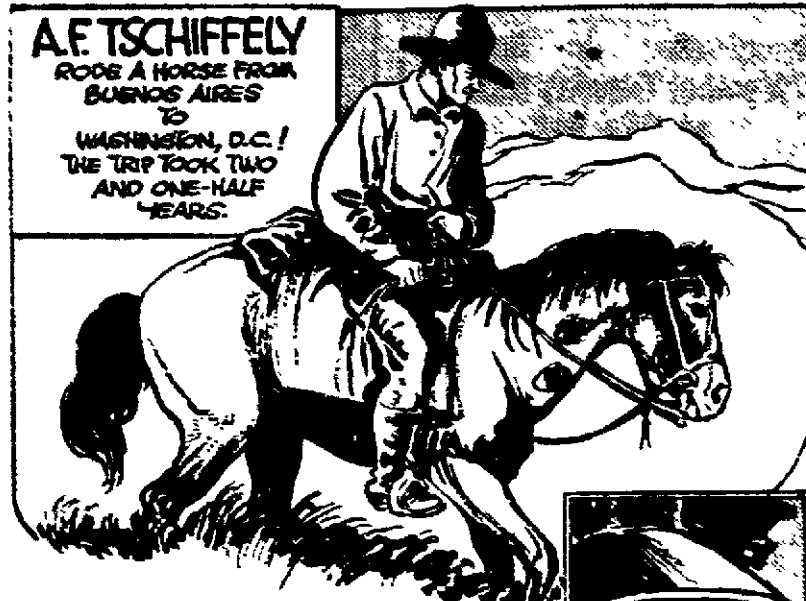

Well-rotted cow manure is the best fertilizer to use around rose bushes. Pulverized sheep manure, to which a little bone meal has been added, is also good.

To poach an egg, cover it with boiling water. Cover the pan in which it is to be cooked and let stand for six minutes. Cooked in this way the egg may be easily digested.

cautions of your past neglect. See whether they're not just coming to you with their confidences—and whether after all you can't put yourself out of it, and give them good straightforward advice. Instead of looking hurt and declaring over and over again that you did everything you could to help them—straighten them out by telling them that they mustn't be buffeted by the snobs and the social chambers—that they must keep their self-respect and their confidence in themselves.

If you give them a dose of common-sense, instead of handing out a lecture on the subject of what you've sacrificed for their sakes, you'll get over this unhappy state of bickering over a trifling problem which they will learn to handle better as they grow older.

DIXIE: Better go to your mother and have a talk with her about the ethics of the money you suggest. He will be able to give you a much more accurate answer than I could, in my position. I think you would be perfectly justified in the course of action you plan out it remains for someone more knowledgeable than myself to say definitely.

I KNOW I'LL LOVE IT. KEEPING HOUSE WILL BE SUCH FUN.

NO ONE SCRUBS ANY MORE. GET SOME RINSO—IT SOAKS CLOTHES SNOW-WHITE.

NO WONDER EVERYBODY PRAISES RINSO. I NEVER SAW SUCH WHITENESS AND SUCH SUDS IN THIS HARD WATER. WHAT A FOOL I WAS TO BUY A SCRUB BOARD.

HER SECOND WASHDAY

I FINISHED THE WASH IN NO TIME TODAY. I'M GLAD YOU TOLD ME ABOUT RINSO.

DOESN'T IT GET THE CLOTHES WHITE! AND IT'S SUCH A SAFE SOAP FOR COLORED THINGS.

WE ALL USE IT FOR DISHES, TOO. ITS THICK SUDS LOOSEN GREASE LIKE MAGIC.

"Does amazing amount of work," says Mrs. F. W. Blankenburg of Milwaukee

"I NEVER knew what a lot of work Rinsol does, until I recently kept track of what I did with one large package. I easily did two weeks' washing for the five in my family. As you see there were lots of clothes:

1 bed spread	11 dish towels	2 men's pajamas
3 bureau scarfs	2 table cloths	24 men's shirts
12 collars	2 pr. window curtains	12 pair socks
32 face cloths	6 nightclothes	8 suits men's underwear
20 handkerchiefs	75 handkerchiefs	3 women's sporties
18 pillow cases	28 children's dresses	6 women's house-dresses
32 towels	17 sets underwear	60 pair stockings
6 sheets	2 men's nightshirts

Cup for cup, Rinsol gives twice as much suds as lightweight, puffed-up soaps. Even in hardest water, you will be amazed at the amount of washing one big box of Rinsol will do. Recommended by the makers of 40 famous washers. Great for dishes, too.

NEENAH QUINT LEAVES TUESDAY FOR STATE MEET

Coach Jorgensen's Team Meets Strong Beloit Five in First Tilt

Neenah—Coach Ole Jorgensen and eight members of the high school district championship basketball team leave Tuesday afternoon for Madison to take part in the annual state tournament which opens Wednesday morning at the University of Wisconsin field house. This will be the fifth consecutive year that Neenah high school has had a team in the state tourney.

The Neenah team is scheduled to play the second game Wednesday morning, drawing Beloit as its opponent at 11 o'clock. Beloit, because of the height of its players, may have the edge, but Neenah has a good record for the season and may upset the Beloiters. The winner of this game is apt to be in the finals in the upper bracket.

If Neenah and DePere get by in the first two rounds, they will meet in the semi-finals. Inasmuch as the teams tied for the Northeastern conference title and did not play each other during the regular season, the game also would unofficially decide the league championship.

Four strong teams, Kenosha, Superior Central, Madison East and Tomah, are crowded together in the lower bracket.

Coach Jorgensen, who is allowed eight men in the state meet, will select his team Tuesday morning from his squad of 11 men.

Tournament officials will be Archie Morrow, Madison; George Jacques, Columbus; R. J. Erditz, Oshkosh; and M. B. Hillgren, Eau Claire.

The first round schedule, beginning at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, has as its opponents: 11 o'clock, Neenah vs. Beloit; 2 o'clock, E. DePere vs. Kenosha; 4 o'clock, Madison vs. New Glarus; 6 o'clock, Kenosha vs. Platteville; 7 o'clock, Ladysmith vs. Superior Central; 9 o'clock, Madison East vs. Tomah; 9 o'clock, Mayville vs. Wausau. The championship game will be played at 8 o'clock Saturday night.

BIG PROBLEMS IN BALANCING BUDGET IN U. S.

Absence of Formula in Slashing Expenses Adds to Difficulties

In this, the first of a series of twelve articles on Balancing the Budget, David Lawrence states the problem and notes the absence of a formula in cutting expenses.)

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1932 by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—The demand of the nation is to cut government expense—to eliminate waste, to rid the governmental establishment of extravagance and useless activities. But how?

It is one thing to make a broad criticism of government on the basis of an isolated or conspicuous case of governmental superfluity or bureaucracy and it is quite another to find a practical and effective way to perform the surgical operation on government budgets, federal, state and city, sought by an aroused and cash-poor public opinion.

The federal budget is a sensational example—it is nationally felt, hence it is the first to bear the brunt of criticism. This, notwithstanding the fact that only four billions out of the country's fourteen billions of annual expense for government are spent by the central government and notwithstanding also that in the decade before 1930 the federal debt had been reduced from twenty-six billions to sixteen billions while the state and cities coincidentally were increasing their debt by nearly ten billions of dollars.

What Washington does in a fiscal sense is nevertheless of transcendent importance to state and city governments, for a national sentiment is more quickly reflected there than in separate sections or localities.

Need Classification

Anybody who has studied the federal budget is at once impressed with its multiplicity of activities and lack of classification of items of expenditures. Only in the last year or so has any progress been made toward a statement of expenses that could be understood by research students, much less the public at large. It is a hodge-podge of expenditures grouped by departments and bureaus, but hardly coordinated so as to permit of a penetrating analysis on the effectiveness or ineffectiveness of the dollar spent in relation to the object sought to be accomplished.

Nobody in particular is to blame for this except the people who permitted it to grow like Topsy into a government establishment that felt it had to keep pace with group demands and group desires. Powerful lobbies, ranging from welfare workers and soldiers' organizations to construction companies and local Chambers of Commerce have all intimidated and persuaded members of Congress to do their bidding.

To unscramble the federal financial puzzle, it is necessary to have a formula. To cut expenses blindly without regard to the powerful groups that originally put the items in the budget is to fight against congressional ties not easily reversed. Even members of Congress who admit the un wisdom of multifarious expenditure insist that the public assume full responsibility for the frankenstein that has built up.

Minority groups have put expenses in the budget not now removable without repudiation of what may be called fixed commitments.

Now the time has come to prune expenses and Congress is in a quandry how to do it. The other day a Senate resolution directed that a ten per cent cut be made in a particular appropriation bill by a Senate committee. This involves a knowledge of the details of appropriations not always possessed by committees. The idea of a horizontal slash of appropriations is excellent in theory, but ultimately the pruning has to be done by the agencies which administer the funds. It means that the Budget Bureau and its representatives must tackle the job.

Powerful Group Opposition

When the Executive departments submitted their estimates to the Budget Bureau in December they were cut down. Now that the budget is submitted to Congress, public opinion wants further cuts. Committees on appropriations know the pressure but all through Congress are powerful representatives of powerful groups. What excuse will the agricultural congressman give his constituents for cutting down money for the farmer? He might argue that he thought it was benefiting the farmer, but he is timid about taking the chance against the rural constituents.

If it be assumed that the federal government could be run like a private business, then the method would be simple. The query would merely be as to the effectiveness of the dollar spent. In government there is no such check except a vague, indefinite reaction from groups usually so diversified as to prevent a collective impression.

Also the question of whether an activity should or should not be maintained has hitherto rested on what the sponsors of the activity thought about it. Once policies are laid down by Congress, the question turns on how faithfully and efficiently they are executed. Usually executives are appointed and they may or may not be efficient. The political system plays its part. But the clerical and office personnel carries out the instructions of these

GANDHI DREAMS VISIT TO U. S., BUT PLANS ONE

Date for Journey to America Depends on Political Situation

BY JAMES A. MILLS
Bombay—(AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi still plans to visit the United States. The date, he says, depends upon the political situation in India.

If things calm down and he can effect a compromise on the self-government question, he may be able to cross the Atlantic in the latter part of 1932.

America Must Behave

"But there must be a further condition to my going to the United States," added the Mahatma. "I must feel that I can serve a real purpose there. Americans must make it clear to me that they really want to hear my message."

"They must also assure me that I won't be torn to pieces, as Professor Einstein was. There is such a thing as being killed by the kindness of your friends."

U. S. BONDS ARE AVAILABLE TO MEET ALL NEEDS

Coupon Rates on Government Securities Range from 3 to 4 1/2 Per Cent

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES
(Copyright, 1932, by Cons. Press)

New York — With coupon rates varying from 3 to 4 1/2 per cent and maturities from 1 to 10 years United States Government bonds are available in forms to suit all investment needs. Take the coupon rate first. The highest rate is 4 1/2 per cent on the Treasury bonds issued in 1922 and the lowest, disregarding for this discussion the short term Treasury bills and certificates, is 3 per cent on the Treasury 3s issued in 1931.

Now as to maturity the longest is the issue last named which falls due in 1935 and is redeemable in 1931 and the shortest are those of Liberties which are redeemable next year although not due until 1935 for the Fourth 4s and until 1947 for the others.

These two factors, coupon rate and maturity date, enter into the making of the market price. At any given time the yield on all government bonds tends to equalize so that the higher coupon issues may sell at a premium and the lower at a discount but the maturity income is approximately the same. It is never exactly the same because demand and supply are never the same.

Individual investors hesitate to pay a premium for any bond with the result that other things equal premium bonds sell to give the largest return and discount bonds the smallest. The buyer of a premium bond has to "amortize," as the technical word is, a part of each payment to make up the difference between the price above par paid at the time of purchase and par which he will receive at maturity. Financial institutions do not consider this a drawback but there are enough investors who do consider it to affect the market price.

The buyer of a bond at a discount in theory should make a similar calculation but in the opposite direction. His real income from his investment is the value of the coupon plus the increased value of the bond itself as the date of maturity approaches. Aside from these differences the matter of tax exemption enters into the calculations. One Liberty bond, the 3s issued in 1917 when the United States first entered the war, is entirely tax exempt and so has an additional value to investors of large means.

Carves Figures in Wood

Henry Vandenboogaard, Kimberly woodcarver, at work on his favorite hobby of portraying human faces and figures in wood. Some of the outstanding carvings which he has made have taken nearly 300 hours of work. The wood artist works at his hobby about three or more hours every day.

Kimberly Man Spends Hours At Hobby Of Wood Carving

Sitting at his favorite workbench, Henry Vandenboogaard, Kimberly, bends over a piece of wood, working with a delicate chisel. Then he straightens, puffs at his pipe thoughtfully, looks intently at the detailed pen and ink sketch at his side, to bend over the wooden piece once more.

As he works the glossy mahogany takes on the shape of lines and curves until it pictures a human face in the wood, developed from the sketch which—the carver keeps at his side while he works. Wood carving is Mr. Vandenboogaard's special hobby at which he has spent his leisure hours for the past ten years. He deals with human faces, characterizing them in wood. Wood carvings of members of his family in informal mood, a dignified carving of George Washington which brings out every detail of the hero's head, the figure of a Grecian athlete showing action as he clings to the neck of a bolting horse, down to the stalwart life guard in oilskins, portray the varied ability of Mr. Vandenboogaard.

Patience, Ability Needed
Although his skilful fingers work diligently and seemingly with swiftness, it takes patience as well as ability to make a wood carver, according to the artist. He plans on making a figure of Washington seated on a horse which he estimates will take about 700 hours to complete. To carve American heroes has been his greatest desire since he came to this country five years ago, he says.

Mr. Vandenboogaard, who was born in Glave, Holland, 35 years ago, has lived in this country for the last five years. He attributes his first work to the death of his brother, a Dutch artist. "My very first attempt at wood carving was 19 years ago when I constructed and carved a giant crucifix to be placed at the grave of my brother, who was a talented artist," he said. "Since then I have spent many hours working at this, my favorite hobby. My carvings I first sketch the details of the subject with pen and ink in exact detail. After outlining the picture on a large mahogany piece I gouge out the deepest lines. From here I work out the foreground, leaving the background of the carving until the very last.

"A special process of staining, which I brought over with me from Holland, finishes the wood picture". Swinging back the lid of his tool chest, the wood carver disclosed an unusual number of tools ranging from time, delicately shaped instruments to the larger, more substantial ones for the deep lining and carving. Perhaps one of the features of these tools is that they have each been designed and made by the woodcarver himself.

Mr. Vandenboogaard's work first centered around his family and each of his children. Since then he has taken an interest in unusual figures such as the fighting Grecian athlete on his horse, and carvings of national heroes.

Just recently Mr. Vandenboogaard spent 252 hours on the life size carving of George Washington, displayed in an Appleton store on the president's birthday. The carving stands 15 inches high with a face measuring seven inches. The lines of the first president's face stand out even down to the detail of the hair. The study of athlete, called "Alexander, the Buchefalos" took 250 hours to carve.

Mr. Vandenboogaard, who is employed by the Kimberly-Clark corporation, spends between three or four hours every day at his favorite hobby.

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CAITON

WHY GERMANY'S PLAN FAILED
Complete strategic victory is impossible in modern warfare. The enemy forces in the field cannot be crushed. The army can only win tactical advantages, which must be exploited skillfully by political genius behind the front if a warring nation is to get the kind of peace it wants.

This thesis is advanced and ably defended by Karl Tschuppik in "Ludendorff—the Tragedy of a Military Mind," an interesting study of the World War just issued by the Houghton Mifflin Co. at $5.

Germany, says the writer, lost the war because her leaders never grasped this fact. Political ability, he asserts, was utterly lacking. At the dawn of 1917 an advantageous negotiated peace might have been had; a year later, after the Russian collapse, an even better one was possible.

But Germany, he says, had been sold on the old idea of Moltke and Schlieffen—the idea that the only peace treaty worth considering was one which could be dictated after the opposing armies had been completely crushed.

This idea, he continues, was chiefly exemplified in Ludendorff. Hence the desperate insanity of the submarine campaign; hence the ruinous offensives of March and April, 1918, which came so close to winning but which, the author insists, could not, from the very nature of modern war, ever really have won.

The way in which this idea is developed makes an interesting book. It is not aimed at a large audience. Much of it, to the ordinary reader not well versed in history, will seem dull. But it constitutes a novel and stimulating way of looking at the tragic events of the greatest of wars.

7 CANDIDATES FOR ALDERMAN IN FIFTH WARD

Mayorality Campaign Is Between E. W. Wendlandt, Incumbent, and Jacob Werner

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New London. With seven candidates seeking election as aldermen from the fifth ward, the spring election promises an interesting time. Ordinarily the votes cast from this ward number about 150. Seven candidates circulating nomination papers secured the signature of 103 citizens, which shows that only a small margin of votes will be necessary for election.
The electronic candidates are R. B. Rasmussen, incumbent, William Behm, N. N. Palmer, Henry Hoffmann, George Van Tassel, Shady Mansour, and Amos Tate.
In the race for mayor the campaign is more quiet. There have been no public speeches by either candidate. E. W. Wendlandt, incumbent or Jacob Werner.
Another angle of interest is the opposition offered Mrs. F. J. Pfeiffer as a member of the board of education by G. A. Wells.
L. M. Wright, city treasurer, is opposed for reelection by M. J. Stewart. For assessor there are three aspirants, Page Dexter, A. W. Anderson and August Freymuth. Louis Pahl seeks the office of city clerk, opposing Mrs. J. J. Rasmussen.
The second ward is represented by Milo Smith, the present alderman, who is opposed by Frank Longrie, while Gust Paul, in the third ward, is opposed by Elmer Meidam and Fred Lindkegel. In the first and fourth wards there is no opposition. Jess Thomas and Herman Ladwig representing the voters of these two wards.

Make Change In Windup Program For Thursday's Amateur Fights

JOE CIESLAK, MARTY KRAMER WILL PERFORM

Replace Tony Bruno, Sonnenberg, Vike Boxers Also Show

JOE CIESLAK, a Wisconsin golden gloves champion and rated the best welterweight in the state will show here Thursday night in one of the double windup bouts on the American legion's amateur fight card it was announced today. He will battle Marty Kramer of Sheboygan and the bout will take the place of the Bruno-Sonnenberg fight.

Cieslak is a plain every day fighter, they say and probably the best performer ever to show in a local ring. He carries a knock down or a knockout in both hands, always fights and soon will turn professional. Among other things he holds a couple K. O. decisions over Hans Ahl, Oshkosh.

Recently the youngster worked out with Jack Demsey when the latter showed in Milwaukee and Jack was so impressed he suggested Joe turn pro. Joe decided on that and would have appeared on a Milwaukee pro card last week if it hadn't been cancelled.

Kramer is a big, rough, rugged chap who fought Cieslak last year and lost the nod in four rounds. He has sought another go with the Milwaukee youth and jumped at the opportunity to meet him here. He carries his chin well projected and while not a ranking boxer, he can take "em and give 'em.

Matthias H. W. Miller is more than pleased at the chance to get Cieslak and Kramer and considers the bout the best he's ever arranged for a local show. Announcement that Cieslak is coming here is expected to bring increased demand for tickets from the many people who have seen him fight in other valley cities.

Another fight Thursday night will show heavyweights, Frank Weyenberg, Appleton and John Pavolik of Milwaukee. The boys will weigh in at about 150 pounds.

Weyenberg's last bout was a few weeks ago at Oshkosh where a big Italian chap walked out on him in the second frame. Frank looked too big and rugged for the Milwaukee boy.

But Pavolik won't give way to the local youngster. Pavolik is a big strapping chap and considered the best looking boxer in Milwaukee amateur circles. Charlie Higgins, that veteran old teacher of boxing considers Pavolik as good looking as Valentino—and that should mean something. He recently fought the Wisconsin champion of the University of Wisconsin and knocked him out in the second round.

Two Lawrence college fighters will show in still another bout Thursday night. They are Hank Mattson and Ed Pfefferle, Appleton. Mattson is a southpaw and last year was the middle weight champ of the college. Pfefferle is the light heavy champ at the college this year.

SAMMY FULLER TO MEET JACKIE BERG
Winner of Go Will Meet Tony Canzoneri for Lightweight Title

New York—(AP)—Young Sammy Fuller, aggressive lightweight from Boston, engages in the most important battle of his career here this week.

Fuller meets Jack (Kid) Berg, speedy British 135-pounder, in the ten round main bout at Madison Square Garden Friday night. A title shot against champion Tony Canzoneri awaits the winner.

The experts know what Fuller can do and that he's had a chance to see him outpoint Ray Miller and knock out Billy Wallace in his last two engagements here but Berg is something of a mystery.

Training Camp Notes

Tampa, Fla.—(AP)—There's little joy in the Brooklyn Dodgers' training camp over the results of the spring training exhibition games but the Dodgers always find something cheerful to think about even when they lose.

Yesterday they lost a ball game to Cincinnati but found reason for rejoicing in the performance of Glenn Wright. The veteran shortstop, troubled by weak ankles last season, played through the full nine innings and drove in three runs with a double and a single.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—(AP)—The mystery of the origin of the stiff neck that kept Babe Ruth out of the New York Yankees lineup yesterday has been explained.

The Babe strained his neck muscles looking up at those five towering wallpops he put over the fence in Saturday's game with the Phillies.

New Orleans, La.—(AP)—The one player needed by the Cleveland Indians to make them a pennant possibility this season—a good shortstop—apparently has been found. Eddie Montague's recent play at the hot spot has been well-nigh perfect and he has been hitting satisfactorily all season.

Notoriously weak in fielding last year, the Tribe yesterday played their second consecutive game with out an error, and on a badly cleated field. They defeated the New Orleans Pelicans 7 to 3.

Tampa, Fla.—(AP)—The problems of packing shirts and hosiery rather than punching out singles and homers troubled the Cincinnati Reds to some extent.

NEENAH OPENS TOURNEY PLAY WITH BELOIT

Downstaters Considered One of Strongest Quintets Competing

MADISON—Favorites and underdogs, all winners of their respective district eliminations, will meet on Wednesday on the hardwoods of the Badger fieldhouse in the twenty-eighth annual state high school basketball tournament.

One of the 16 teams entered in the championship flight will be crowned Saturday night as successor to Wisconsin High of Madison, which insured the tournament tradition for another year that "champions do not repeat" by losing in its district final.

Playing favorites for the tourney is like picking all-Americans, but since it's free, every one is doing it, and there are at least 6 of the 16 teams which are being named as possible victors.

Superior Highly Rated
Judged by their records in district tournaments, Beloit, Kenosha and Wausau, have the most powerful offensive Beloit piled up 97 points, Kenosha, 94, and Wausau, 93, while Neenah, Superior, Antigo and Tomah followed in order.

The list of high scorers in the district meets concludes almost exactly with the list which the knowing ones have compiled to include potential title winners, with the exception of Madison East.

Superior Central comes to town with a team that apparently has everything, including experience, height and team balance. The squad includes a half dozen six footers, and is supposed to be the best team that has come out of the north country since the era of John Hancock and Ernie Nevers.

Kenosha, Beloit Strong
From down Kenosha way Coach Fred Bauer will bring his larrupping Red Devils, who came along last year to the end of the season and defeated morewood in the district finals of a score of 41 to 3. The team showed great potential in its last games, a half dozen six footers, and is supposed to be the best team that has come out of the north country since the era of John Hancock and Ernie Nevers.

Beloit, winner of the Big Eight conference title, deserves a claim to consideration as one of the three or four outstanding contenders. With Vic Jorgensen at center going better than ever, the Lane City quintet overhauled Waterdown in the district finals by a score of 31 to 14. It is a team which has shown improvement over last year, when it lost to the champions, Wisconsin High, in first round thrasher.

Official Prizes Waiver
According to an official, the Wausau Lumberjacks are the shickest thing on high school hardwoods that has been seen in the state this year. Their lineup was considerably shaken up by graduation but has come on stronger than ever with the new combination, and took Marshfield 64 to 23 to 7 count in the district finals.

The third place fight, which has been eliminated this year, so that no team will have to play more than one game a day. The schedule calls for straight elimination, running through Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Upper Bracket
Antigo vs. Mondak
Beloit vs. Neenah
East De Pere vs. Neenah
Hudson vs. New Glarus

Lower Bracket
Kenosha vs. Platteville Ladysmith vs. Superior Central Madison East vs. Tomah
Mayville vs. Wausau

Chaff 'n Chatter

By Gordon K. McIntyre

Hard Luck Walter
WALTER JOHNSTON'S run of bad luck continues consistently. The former great pitcher faces the prospect of a season with a pitching staff that was all but wrecked to satisfy Clark Griffith's desire for a right-handed hitting outfielder in the person of Carl Reynolds.

Ills Flesh is Heir to New Lloyd Brown, the sturdy about paw fencer runs up with a football flapper. There is no way of knowing how serious this may be, as X-ray examination failed to disclose any dislocation.

Illo Flesch is Heir to
Sam West tripped and fell while chasing a fly ball in the B. B. C. park and had to be put on the stretcher with a pair of badly bruised knees. The fly caught up to Roy Sperry, the one man catching staff, and also upon a decision over Reynolds.

Turn in 1,358 Total; Frankie Rolls 222, 243 and 225 for 690 Total

Detroit—(AP)—Teams from 20 different cities will toe the four line in the American Bowling Congress tournament tonight. The opening squad is led by the Detroit team from the south and west.

A grand shuffle among the leaders was recorded during Sunday's busy session. The most noteworthy change was instigated by Charley Daw and Frankie Benkovic of Milwaukee, who took a commanding lead in the two man event with a 1,358 total.

On the late shift, last night the George T. Scully fly of Chicago found a spot open for their 2920 count, to go into seventh position. Their games were 856, 956, and 1,008.

Benkovic and Daw turned in games of 436, 472 and 450. Benkovic spilled the maples for scores of 222, 243 and 225, totaling 690. Daw shot 214, 229 and 225 for a 668 mark.

Daw won the doubles title, paired with Flinnies Wilson, in Milwaukee in 1923 with the identical score in the today. It has been bettered only twice in A. B. C. history.

LUTHERAN LEAGUERS LOSE TO MILWAUKEE
Appleton Lutheran league basketball team was defeated by the Emmeus team of Milwaukee Sunday afternoon by a score of 23 and 21 in an overtime game at the old Appleton gymnasium. Howard Rehfeldt led the Appleton club in scoring with 12 points. Several weeks ago the teams met in Milwaukee, the Milwaukee five winning.

Chance for Trade?
If there is another Matheson or Ruck in town, it will hit to be set down as another example of appearances being most deceiving.

There is still a prospect of a trade involving Joe Jungs and Dave Harris, which would bring another pitcher to the club, but other clubs are passing around any good pitcher in exchange for such uncertainty as the ageing Judge and mediocrity of Harris.

From this point it appears that the Big Train is in for another tough year, even though Owen Griffith has acquired his right handed hitting outfielder—who hit .299 last season.

WOLVERINES COP FROM INDIANS IN OLDER BOY LEAGUE

Warner Theatres Wallop Lowly Beta Hi-Y Quintet 23 and 12

WOLVERINES assured themselves of the right to play in the Older Boy championship finals Friday evening when they defeated the Indians Saturday at the Y. M. C. A. gym. The score was 19 and 12.

The Wolves started the game fast and with five baskets and a free throw soon ran up a 11 and 4 score. In the second half the Indians into the run for six buckets while the Wolves were getting only four. The 6 lead in the first half was too much for the Indians to overcome, however, as they lost a training.

Warner Theatres won from the lowly Beta Hi-Y team by a score of 3 and 12. P. J. during the first half was shot with a broken team having a 10 advantage and the half ending 13 and 9 for the Warners. ## KITTY FREW

by JANE ABBOTT

SYNOPSIS: Discovery that her mother-in-law is plotting to undermine her marriage determines Kitty Frew to persuade her husband to take her away from his parents home. She has not been happy staying there, but Gar's mother persists in giving Gar money and telling him to have a good time instead of going to work. Her small-town background prevents her from fitting in with Gar's friends, and she is ostracized especially by Marge Crosby, who wants to annex Gar. For some time Gar has been busy with Marge, helping direct a little theater group. Once during his absence Kitty met Gar's half-brother David, who is engaged to the family, and whom she likes and trusts. Gar is young and irresponsible, and fails to realize Kitty's discontent and his mother's unfriendly attitude toward her. He seeks Kitty for not being warmer to his friends, but says he will work.

Kitty took a dress skirt out of Gar's bureau. She put in the studs and spread the skirt out on the bed. She found a collar and a tie and put them beside it. Socks - She was shivering; her whole body felt cold, numb, her head a bad thing. There was something she had to tell Gar, something she had to do - She took up the yellow dress, vaguely aware that it had to do with her purpose, and was standing, staring dumbly down at it when Gar emerged from the bathroom, rubbing his curly hair with a towel.

"That's right, Kit - wear that. It's going to be a big night tonight." His words, his tone released her brain for its numbing weight. She faced him, crushing the yellow dress in her hands.

"I'm not going tonight, Gar." He saw her face, then. He stared at it, puzzled, frowning a little. "Not going? What's the big idea?"

"I'm not going out with you any more until you can pay for our pleasure with money you've earned."

She could tell in a faint surprise at the steadiness of her tone. Gar's frown deepened. "Oh, lord are you going to begin that old song? Well, you can't mind if I go without you."

"I can't mind it as much as the humiliation of going with you and knowing that your mother is - buying you."

But Gar did not hear that. His angry glance had gone to the half-packed suitcase.

"What's this? Going back to the chickens and the pigs? Well, remember me to them and to Aunt Jermina and Uncle Joshua."

He looked so like an angry, spoiled boy, his hair ruffled, his suspenders hanging, his fingers fumbling with his collar, that a part of Kitty wanted to laugh, to manage the unruly collar button, to smooth his hair, to kiss away the dark scowl. But she did not move. She dropped the yellow dress she had been crushing in her arms to the floor.

"I am not going to stay in this house another night. When you are ready to support a home I'll come back to you." Again she felt that surprise at the coolness with which she could answer.

"You will, will you? That's kind." Gar was savagely dragging on his clothes. He turned his back to Kitty. She scarcely stirred until he had finished dressing and had gone out, slamming the door behind him.

She had no feeling of hurt or heartache, only her driving need of escape. She finished packing her clothes. She shut the bag and put on her hat and coat and gloves. She took up her purse - then she looked at it in dismay.

She had only ten dollars. That was not enough to take her home, though not until Gar had spoken of it had she thought of going home.

David - He'd help her, of course. She went to the telephone. "Park, 1235." Strange that she remembered it! And when his voice came over the wire: "David, can I see you at once?"

A new life begins for Kitty in the next installment, while she tries to plan for a future apparently empty.

MAY LOSE TITLE

London - The world's loneliest island, Tristan da Cunha, may lose its title if a scheme on foot in England is realized. There is talk of establishing a meteorological station on the island and a radio station is planned to transmit weather news to England. It is suggested that the island would make an excellent base for an air line between America and South Africa.

STOCK MARKET FACES CRITICAL TEST THIS WEEK

Averages Again Flirting
With Lows of Long Bear Movement

Copyright, 1932, By Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—(CPA)—
The stock market faces a critical test this week to come. The averages,
by any of the various computations,
are flirting with the lows of the long bear movement and the question is whether support will be encountered as it was in December and again in January.

Taking the Dow-Jones figures, the industrial closed Thursday at 71.99, against the low on Jan. 5 to 71.24
and the low on Dec. 17 of 73.79. The railroads have displayed poorer resistance.
Their low as of Jan. 5 was 31.55 compared with the close on Thursday of 32.49, a scant margin, while for the utilities the corresponding figures are the low on Jan.
5 of 29.64 against Thursday's low of 31.70—showing that the industrial are still further away from their minimum point.

Besides the confused legislative situation at Washington and the generally unsatisfactory condition of trade—although business is said to have improved in retail lines last week—the market has had to contend with genuine liquidation inspired by the advice of certain investment services, so-called. It has not been a matter of short selling, although doubtless there has been some of that too, but rather the continuous supply coming from investors who were discouraged not simply by outside events but by the action of the market itself.

Outcome Is Doubtful
What can and will check this liquidation? It is futile to speculate on the outcome at Washington. Even though the budget is balanced, as it must and will be, no one knows what industries or what groups will bear
the burden. The probabilities are that no one will know for months to come as the measure passes the gauntlet in the house, in the senate, and finally in conference. It takes a hardy market to stand such uncertainty.

Then the dividend outlook is another adverse influence. The two most important meetings this week are those of Westinghouse Electric and American Can. Directors of the latter are expected to declare the regular rate, but there is serious doubt as to what will be done by the Westinghouse board. In the longer future, the United States Steel and the Pennsylvania dividends cannot be said to be assured, to put it mildly. The problem is how much of this has already been discounted
by the market. That is something else to be disclosed.

It is reassuring that the Missouri
Pacific situation has been cleared up, for the time being at least. Whatever may have been the ethics of the case or the precedent established,
there is to be no receivership, and there is not likely to be in the case of any other hard-pressed railroad.

One source from which improvement
may possibly come is commodity prices. The advance in crude oil
last week was one indication and another as to what will be done by the silver futures are slightly higher on the week. Agricultural products have been demoralized
marketwise by the interpretation, correct or incorrect, put upon farm board announcements.

If stocks in the absence of anything
constructive, now unforeseen,
can stand up under this event, they will demonstrate conclusively that the market has been completely liquidated.

LIFE'S ODDITIES

By George Clark

THINKS HOUSE WILL FINISH WORK BY JUNE
Washington—(CP)—Speaker Garner told newspapermen Saturday the house was going to try to get through with its work before the party conventions and he believed it could.
He said he had seen the prediction
by Senator Moses (R., N. H.), that congress would not be through
by convention time and observed that he had no way of knowing what
the senate would do.
A move is being considered, the speaker said, to have the house meet each morning at 11 o'clock and adjourn over Friday. He said this would give as many hours weekly
as the present arrangement and that the Saturday off would give hard pressed members an opportunity to consider other work that is now being neglected.

Meanwhile Representative Johnson
(R., Wash.), said in a senate committee hearing that he is "inclined to think we will be here all summer."

"At the present rate of progress
we are making," replied Senator Reed (R., Pa.), "we'll be lucky if we finish by September, I think."

SPRING SUNSHINE FOR MILWAUKEE'S EASTER

Milwaukee—(CP)—Milady's finery was bathed in spring sunshine yesterday
as Miss and Mrs. Milwaukee went on Easter parade down Wisconsin avenue.

Belated spring, busy dodging snow flakes and icicles the past several days, stepped out confidently for the first time this year. Churches were crowded as worshippers celebrated the Christian holiday.

The warm weather beckoned thousands of automobilists to the highways,
and police reported the heaviest Sunday traffic of 1932.

Who's News Today

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright, 1932, by Cons. Press
New York—(CPA)—The issue of inflation vs. deflation is sharpened and clarified in the daily hearings of the senate banking and currency
committee, debating the Glass bill.
Percy M. Johnston, powerful and wisely known president of the Chemical Bank & Trust Co., of New York,
joins the bankers' bloc which assails
the "deflationary" character of the bill. Washington reports that they have a good chance to kill it. Obscured by the tax row, it is nevertheless one of the major items in the great national economic seminar now in session.

Mr. Johnston is a potent ax-man, assailing either a tree or a bill. Never does he cut less than 40 cords of wood a year, on his Montclair, N. J., estate. He was a boy lamplighter in Lebanon, Ky., and carried his Aladdin's lamp with him into the cave
at Chambers-st and Broadway, where Hetty Green sat on the floor and rummaged in her petticoat for securities and sandwiches.

As a boy in Lebanon, he not only
lit street lamps, but cut kindling,
milked cows, clerked in a grocery,
ran a laundry agency and was order boy for a bank, where he later became a clerk. When he was 26,
he became a national bank examiner and later examiner at large. He was cashier of the Citizens' National bank of Louisville, and in 1917, vice-president of the Chemical. At his home at Montclair he maintains a regular cornfield and a flock of horses,

He is the friendliest of bankers and a happy and busy optimist. He thinks the 1932 formula was all right
if it hadn't got side-tracked.

Men are usually cast in the "many parts" of the Shakespearean adage,
but here, at last, is a woman playing pretty nearly all of them. She is Mrs. Izetta Jewel Miller, first-piped Saturday as under a jail threat in Schenectady. She is that city's public welfare commissioner,
and Justice Christopher J. Heffernan says he will look her up unless she renounces Miss Frances Bixford
in her bureau.

Mrs. Miller was first a comely young actress, playing with Francis Hackett and Oss Skinner and later leading woman of the Follies Stock company of Washington. Then she was the wife of millionaire Congressman Brown of West Virginia, with a famous salon. Then she was a widow and a farmette, studying agriculture at the University of West Virginia and running her many adorned farms. Then she was a news-writer reporter in China, interviewing the emperor when nobody else could.

Then she was a politician making
the nomination speech for John W.
Davis at the Democratic convention and later running for congress and the legislature. Then she was, and is, a public welfare commissioner.

not yet at the stage of "wise saws
and modern instances."

There are many disquieting indications that science is, figuratively,
going off the gold standard. Dr.
S. J. Crowe of Baltimore pokes around in a cat's ear and with Dr.
Walter Hughson, discovers that the vibration of the membrane has nothing to do with hearing and that the old "hammer, anvil and stirrup" business is out. Try that on your old high school physiology book.
Dr. Crowe is a great Johns Hopkins ear specialist, for many years a Baltimore physician. He established a laboratory for research in deafness
at Johns Hopkins.

Dr. Herbert McLean Evans, president of the American anatomists' association,
meeting here, suggests that over-population
and the reproduction of the unit can be corrected
with his "growth hormone," that is,
"by transferring this achievement to the human race." He already has shown, with his vitamin F and vitamin X, that we could turn ourselves into a race of giants if we wanted to. He is a Californian, born in Modesto and professor of anatomy
at the University of California.

Dr. H. H. Sheldon, busy for years on alchemy, like the bankers, is a famous physicist who figures out how the photo-electric cell, transmitting inter-stellar light into everyday will guide us through space when we go roving among the planets.
He is a former lumberjack and a great

el shoveler, who, at $9, is head of the department of physics of New York university.

shoes. He was left standing in the street in his stocking feet.

RUSSIA DOES NOT EXIST IN EYES OF U. S.

Last Representatives Removed After Soviet Government Took Hold

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—Three government are now being treated by the United States as if they were non-existent. They are holding power in Soviet Russia, Salvador and Manchuria.

Representatives of the American foreign service are on the job in Salvador and Manchuria, but they can have no official dealings with the new revolutionary regime of Salvador or the new government at Changchun which has been set up by the Japanese.

Charge d'Affaires Boulaie, in the capital city of San Salvador, sees representative of the new President Maximiliano Martinez, almost daily, for they come to him repeatedly and urge the advisability of American recognition.

And the consuls in Manchuria presumably will have to treat with the officials of Fu-Yi's Japanese protectorate if they are to fulfill their obligations of protecting American interests. But officially and legally the jobs of the legation staff in Salvador and the consuls in Manchuria are only to sit tight and make reports to Washington.

Without Consul

In Russia we get along without any official representatives. We yanked the last ones out soon after the Soviet government was established. Thanks, doubtless, to our attitude toward the Soviet—its demonstration by the Siberian invasion, non-recognition and other measures in the Japanese quickly apparent that they weren't the least bit welcome any more. Their withdrawal was a safety measure as much as anything.

The government of Manchoukuo, which is what the Japanese finally decided to call the huge slice of Manchurian and Mongolian territory they had taken by armed force, will be lucky if it is ever recognized by the State Department, no matter how long it survives.

Its 400-word cablegram requesting our recognition has been so completely ignored that receipt of the message hasn't even been officially admitted.

Everyone knows that Henry Pu-Yi's government is merely a false front for Japanese control and no one supposes that it would last overnight if the Japanese withdrew their military support. Secretary Stimson's letter to Senator Borah asserted that no peace settlement based on force would be recognized by the United States and the assertion is cited in the Manchurian case.

League Supports Us

That's one instance where we are supported in non-recognition by European powers. For the League of Nations had adopted a resolution to similar effect.

But other powers have long since found it desirable to revive diplomatic relations with Russia and lately the State Department has been excited over the possibility that the British and French might recognize the present Salvadoran government while we held aloof.

Mr. Martinez was vice president-elect and minister of war in the cabinet of President Arango, chased from Salvador by the revolution late last year. We don't recognize him because the Central American treaties, an important point in our Latin American policy which led to that m.s.s in Nicaragua which we got into in 1927, proscribed recognition of a government created by coup d'etat or of any new president who was in the cabinet of the deposed president.

Thus, although Martinez appointed a new minister to the United States, we have continued to recognize the Araujo minister. The two ministers lived here in the same legation for weeks but Dr. Carlos Leiza, the Araujo minister, has just moved to New York as if in despair.

British and French diplomats at San Salvador have informed their governments that the Martinez government is not a revolutionary government.

Our own minister, Charles Curtis, had recommended recognition of Martinez and was thereupon recalled here to await orders. The State Department has told Great Britain that it will infringe the spirit of the Monroe Doctrine if it recognizes Martinez.

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York.—(P)—The stock market fell slowly but stubbornly downward today, threatening to reduce the general level of share values to a new low level for the year.

The most encouraging aspect of the market was the small volume of trading, but buyers were kept on the sidelines by taxation uncertainties, leaving the market with little support. The list steadied somewhat after execution of some substantial orders at the opening, but began to slip again toward midday. Early afternoon saw some fresh steadying of the list.

Among issues selling off a point or so to new lows were Southern Pacific, Santa Fe, Great Northern Preferred, American National Harvester, Dupont, International Harvester, American Power and Light, May Drug, Albert, Wrigley, and Hershey Chocolate declined 2 to 4 points to new bottoms. Miscellaneous issues losing a point or so included American Can, Consolidated Gas, American Tobacco "B," Union Carbide, and Allied Chemical. American Telephone and U. S. Steel attracted fair support after sagging about a point, and the New York traction companies an isolated firm group, reflected further agitation for a 7-cent rise.

Wall Street's attention largely centered upon Washington. Heavy selling of the American dollar in the foreign exchange market was generally attributed to fears abroad that the federal budget would remain unbalanced, in view of defeat of the general manufacturers sales tax, and strong pressure from individual groups against special levies. Fears for the budget were also evident in selling of U. S. Government bonds. The emphatic statement issued by speaker Garner that the budget must be balanced, however, was regarded as reassuring.

Commission houses and investment advisory services were inclined to urge clients to leave stocks alone until the taxation outlook is clarified. It was pointed out that taxation must fall somewhere if the budget is to be balanced, and that wherever it may fall upon automobiles, tobacco, electricity, gasoline or other lines—it will probably have a depressing effect upon the securities of companies affected.

How much of the selling of the American dollar in the foreign exchange market was real selling, and how much was speculative, could not be determined. The situation was somewhat obscured by the holiday abroad today. There have been numerous rumors of foreign selling of holdings of American securities both late last week and today, but most international houses queried believed this selling was small, if not negligible.

Wall Street was inclined to regard the stock market generally, now that it has again touched the bottom area of the bear market at which it has met firm resistance since December, as in a critical test. If the market is able to hold around current levels, its action will undoubtedly be regarded as highly reassuring. Opinion was widely as to how far it would go in to new low grounds, once started. There has been much talk of a squeeze of shorts around April 1, when the new loaning restrictions go into effect, but brokerage quarters are now inclined to minimize the effect of the new ruling.

TREND IRREGULAR ON CHICAGO MART

Chicago.—(P)—Selling which developed in some leading issues led to considerable irregularity of prices today on the Chicago stock exchange. Middle West 6 per cent preferred sold down almost two points, responsive to announcement that dividends would be omitted both for common and preferred shares.

On the other hand, Edison was firmer owing to a statement by Samuel Insull that even with no improvement in business the company would more than earn its 1932 dividends. Public Service no par was higher for a similar reason. Insull Utility debentures worked fractionally lower.

HOG RUNS SMALL ON LIVESTOCK MARKET

Markings Reach Lowest Point in Almost Three and One-half Years

Chicago.—(P)—With one exception, today's run of 27,000 hogs was the smallest marketed here any Monday in three and a half years. This was due to a corresponding low level in the lower price schedules which were put into effect last week. Spring farm operations are also regarded as having interfered with free marketing of swine. Twelve markets had 18,000 fewer hogs than a week ago and potentially demand was broadened. Packers received 7,000 hogs on direct supply, but with this inadequate supply were soon found visiting the selling pens.

Sales made within the first rounds of trading were 16,750, above Tuesday's average prices $4.30-$4.40 being paid for selected weights, though many loads were held at even higher figures.

Lack of an energetic demand for hogs gave the cattle market a slow start. Supplies of matured cattle were sufficient for trade needs and holders of good to choice steers found it possible to bet any marked advantage over the common to plain steers that made up the bulk of the day's stock supplied, estimated at 1,500 were barely enough to supply local killers.

Curtailment of live mutton markets was calculated to work prices back to the high point of two weeks ago when for the first time this season values passed $8.00. Packers checked in 3,700 lambs on direct consignment and did not buy early.

WHEAT PRICES PUSH FORWARD ON GRAIN MART

Decrease of 2,920,000 Bushels Reported in U. S. Supply

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Chicago.—(P)—Despite late sinking spells, grain prices averaged higher today owing partly to a decrease of 2,920,000 bushels in the United States wheat supply.

Relative weakness of wheat values near the end of the day was ascribed to what was regarded as unfavorable news from Washington, including a report President Hoover frowned on any attempt to abolish the farm board. Much notice was also taken of word that J. W. T. Duval, head of the grain futures administration, had been with the house sub-committee, which was seeking ways and means of raising taxes.

Increasing of the French allowance of foreign wheat permitted to holders lifted the amount to 40 per cent against 35 per cent, the latest previous limit. Traders construed this action as likely to stimulate export demand for North American supplies, and a similar interpretation was put on advances in British exchange rates. The fact was also noted that North America's contribution to world shipments of wheat, the last week were augmented, notwithstanding total world shipments showed curtailment.

Tending further to give an advantage to wheat bulls was extreme lowering of prevailing prices, together with an unfavorable crop outlook for domestic winter wheat southwest and west. It was asserted by some trade authorities that domestic wheat was selling below production costs in much longhaul territory. One Chicago crop specialist telegraphing from Norton, Kas., today said the whole western part of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas was facing the most critical crop period, and would require ideal weather to make an average yield this season. Corn and oats followed wheat. Provisions were firm, responsive to upturns in hog values.

LAUNCH FIGHT ON DIPHTHERIA NEXT TUESDAY

First Inoculations to Be Administered Tomorrow Morning

Kaukauna—Health authorities of Outagamie-co will launch their program of immunization treatments for the prevention of diphtheria here Tuesday morning, when the first inoculations of toxin-anti-toxin will be administered to school children. More than 1,500 children will receive the inoculations, which are being given at no cost to the children's parents.

Literature describing the treatments, and letters asking parents' consent for the treatments, were distributed in the schools last week. Miss Cecil Flynn, city nurse, was in charge of the letters and literature. By Tuesday evening, more than 1,500 of the letters giving health authorities permission to administer the immunization treatments had been received.

Children from nine months to high school age will receive the treatments. Parents of children of preschool age are asked to accompany their children to the schools designated for the treatments. At Park school the inoculations for the north side children will be started at 9 o'clock. On the south side, the children will receive the treatments beginning at 1 o'clock in the afternoon at St. Mary's school. Children of school age without the parents' certificate of consent will not be given the treatments.

Another injection of the toxin-anti-toxin will be administered on April 5, and the last injection will be given Saturday, April 12. According to health authorities there are no after effects, and the child does not become ill. The child will not suffer a sore arm, although there may be a slight swelling and redness.

CANNING FIRMS TO SECURE CONTRACTS FOR 1932 CROPS

Fieldmen Expected to Visit Farmers in County This Week

BY W. F. WINSEY
The uncertainty of growers of canning peas and beans over the raising of these crops this season in this vicinity will be broken up this week by fieldmen of the canning companies appearing at homes of the growers to make contracts for the 1932 crops. No announcements have been made, however, by cucumber and table beet canning plants about the renewing of contracts for 1932. One large canning plant has cancelled its contracts made last fall for table beets, cucumbers and other vegetables, according to the reports of growers.

According to the present prospect the acreages of cabbage and potatoes will be about the same as last year. The growers are inclined to ignore contracts for the raising of cabbage that are below the cost of production and will take their own chances at getting higher than contract prices which in some cases have been set at $5.00 per ton with a limit of three acres for each grower, so said a number of farmers consulted Thursday.

The Fuhrmann Canning company will begin contracting for the raising of canning peas next week on the basis of a smaller acreage than was raised last season.

The Fox Valley Canning company, Hortonville, will also begin contracting for the usual acreages of canning beans and peas next week. This company will make no contracts for raising cabbage at the present prices as those prices are below the cost of production. The company expects to handle cabbage next fall, however. The company will pay last year's price for peas.

Pea growers about Appleton and Hortonville make pea growing profitable beyond the price they get for peas. These extra profits come from using the peas as nurse crops for alfalfa and sweet clover, and from about three tons of pea silage per acre which they stack at the vinery and haul home to their barns in the winter. According to W. Schroeder, manager of the Fox Valley company, the stacks of pea silage are marked into sections and names of the growers are placed on their sections. In this way the pea silage is divided according to acres peas raised by each grower.

Other incidental sources of profit in the raising of peas are weed control and fitting the soil for crops to follow. Peas being a fast growing crop many of the noxious weeds in fields are cut before going to seed. Peas collect nitrogen from the air and store the surplus in their roots. This nitrogen, it is said, is picked up by the crops that follows the peas.

The Wickersham commission places the yearly cost of crime in the United States at more than $1,124,000,000. Criminal law administration in 300 cities accounts for $247,700,000 of this amount.
